"Blue Reign," the title may sound familiar, but the connotation is completely different.

Pride became the focal point of the 1985 school year. Because of this, Blue Reign arose as the theme of the year-book, describing the affair between the power of the Brunswick Bulldogs and the domination of Southside.

Many changes occurred in the royal territory that aided in the establishment of Bulldog omnipotence.

We were proud of our academic bulldogs as they made their debut on the Battle of the Brains. Our District in everything from Drama to Football.

Clubs reigned with financial pride as hundreds of industrious students got out and worked hard to "make a good thing better."

Changes were found everywhere, beginning with the new student identification cards provided by the S.C.A. We added a few trophy cases, as well as trophies, water fountains, emergency lights, computers, ceiling fans, and even a long-jump pit for the track team.

1985 was the year for changes, improvements, adjustments and self-esteem.

Blue Reign depicts the pride that thrives among the Brunswick Bulldogs as we reign in our endeavors as a school, as sophomores, as juniors, as Seniors, but most of all, as BULLDOGS.

FACULTYREIGNFACULTYREIGNFACU

The Journalism staff realized that half the fun of getting our yearbook was flipping to the Faculty section and giving some lucky teacher a "face-lift." Well, regardless of how some of us felt about faculty they were there, and let's "face" it, without them we wouldn't have had an education (and who knows what they would have done without us!).

So we both put forth an effort to survive another school year, and somewhere between the beginning and the end we discovered that we're all Bulldogs and part of "Blue Reign." We even found out that regardless a popularly held belief, the majority of us were human too!

Three Kings Principals Reign with Velvet Glove

Mr. Baird, Mr. Thompson, and Mr. Burke could easily be found everyday. They led the school and helped make the rules. The three kings of our school ruled not with an iron hand but with a velvet glove.

They easily gained respect by treating all students as equal during school hours and afterwords.

Mr. Baird, known as a man of many talents, could not only play a piano, but according to SCA president Martha Stith, could also tell a joke! He supported all sports and showed just as much school spirit as the fans.

Mr. Thompson, known as Coach Thompson, formerly supervised the Summer League Baseball Games. Not only did he give pointers to baseball players, but during break, he always had students crowding him for change.

Mr. Burke, one of the Varsity Basketball coaches, inspired the players. He gave each of the players equal playing time and always had time when a player needed help.

Each of the principals enforced the rules and regulations fairly. They looked at both sides of problems.

The reign of our three kings would last a long time. They ruled with a velvet glove and a heart of gold..

Mr. Thompson proves he's worth his weight in gold, as he relaxes with a smile and seniors Melinda Hardy and Tony Ruffin.

With anticipation glowing on his face, Mr. Burke directs his team to a close victory on the basketball court.

What's New? The Faces of BSHS

This was the year for new teachers at Brunswick Senior High. The students have really enjoyed having the new teachers here. We liked watching the new teachers on the first day of school to see how they reacted to certain situations, such as a student not knowing where his class was and walking in about 20 minutes late.

Unlike the regular teachers, the new teachers had it hard their first year. They had to show up a day earlier than the regular teachers did, and also had to stay after school every evening for about a week. The new teachers had to start from the very beginning. They had to make up new plans, new tests, new bulletins, etc.

Their duties extended far beyond the classroom though. We saw them working at games taking up tickets. They also helped with dances, making sure everything stayed under control. Teachers really went the extra mile for students, and hopefully one day we will realize that.

Rulers and Pages Substitutes Leave Home To Face A Day Of Teaching

News traveled fast when there was a substitute teacher. Half of the class would be planning a big joke to play on her, the remaining half pondered how they should treat her. While substituting for one of Mrs. Gordon's classes an incident happened that you wouldn't believe. One of the students took a cigarette lighter and an aerosol can of chalkboard cleaner and created a torch.

Fortunately, this happened only once. It seemed that the hardest thing for a substitute to handle was when the students thought they were going to have a break from work because the regular teacher was absent. A substitute knew that it would be hard to handle the troublemakers when she was teaching for just one day, but when she was in the classroom for a couple of days, she prepared for the "smartalecks" and cracked down.

Would you like to purchase a raffle ticket? A Bunny rabbit? Purchase a cake?

These questions and more would echo from the halls of B.S.H.S. to the parking lots of Red & White and Star Value, where students of various clubs attempted to raise money for future projects and trips.

The School year reigned with club involvement. The Student Council raised close to $1,000 during homecoming. The Culture Club raised $438 selling candy, shakers, and raffles and Journalism sold over $1,700 in ads and $400 in hats. Although education is expensive some people can't wait to see the day when generals sell brownies to raise money to buy a battleship.

Brunswick Cheerleaders Spread Power

The ones who gave all the joy and inspiration to our games did not go unnoticed. The Brunswick Princesses breathed life into each game.

We depended on the cheerleaders through sickness and pain; they always cheered.

With one to two hours practices three days a week for five months, they developed a high level of perfection. They amazed the players with their cheers, even when enthusiasm in the crowd dwindled.

With a total of seventeen cheerleaders we could not lose. Even when the team didn't win, the cheerleaders still stood out because they continued to cheer. Throughout the year they cheered up many students with their princessly steps, and became the Brunswick Dynamic Princesses.

Members Capture Trophys

Clubs opened the year with awards that meant success. The FFA received a first place in the Swine Judging Contest held in Southhampton on November 3rd. Chess members involved themselves with a Chess Tournament in April. They continued to hold their large membership. In May the Art Club traveled to Richmond where they toured the Virginia Museum of Arts. AIASA Club was not to be left out. Mr. Byrd's class made a memento to give to the guest speaker of the Virginia Vocational Association and Administrators. The gift demonstrated the quality of workmanship from the school. They also traveled to the State on April 20 to participate in State Competition.

Join The Fun

Monogram — The Monogram Club assisted their new members in obtaining their monogram jackets. They donated the flag to the gym and gave Martin Astrop a TV for one week while he was in the hospital.

Tag — The Tag members had many opportunities to take advanced computer applications and advanced math courses at Southside Virginia Community College to help prepare them for a future career as well as preparing them for college life. Many of the courses offered extra credits for students in high school.

Spanish — For Christmas the Spanish Club had a "Mexican Christmas." Some of the students made mexican dishes at home and served them to their classmates at school. The week of March 4-8 the club celebrated National Foreign Language Week. The French club members put posters up by all of the classrooms identifying what subject was taught in each room.

Coed Hi-Y — The Coed Hi-Y Club sponsored a canned food drive during the Christmas season. The food that was collected was given to a needy family in the county. An additional $5 donation was included.

For Sale Yes, We Have No Oranges

The FBLA traveled to Petersburg High School to compete in the Regional events, and placed first in Typewriting, and Accounting I.

The Health Careers held a bake sale in November and raised $45.00 to buy T-shirts with individual's name on them. In May they had a Spring Talent show in which cash prizes and trophies were given for first and second place.

The FHA raised money by selling chocolate and peanut candies. They planned to travel to Roanoke Rapids to see how fabric was made and the different kinds of it. They had an elegant dinner afterwards and decided to go to a movie or a skating rink for a recreational activity before heading home.

The Annual Orange Sale held by the Culture Club didn't happen this year, nor did they take the usual trip. They did take a short distance trip going North.

Activities Keep Students Busy

Very few students had the satisfaction of being asked to join the National Honor Society. It is an organization in which one has to work hard in order to maintain one's membership and to keep the pleasure of knowing the meaningful accomplishment. About 19 new members joined this year.

Honor Society — (front l to r) Bianca Graves, Adela Jones, Lisa Owens, Tressline Coleman, Lawrence Hawkins, Tammy Brown, Alisia Beasley and Vivian Lee; (next) Gwen Coleman, Jackie Tiller, Ken Peace, Rick Henry, David Talbert, Iris Clary, Kim Radford, and Zelma Harrison; (next) Chauncey Blackwell, Myra Edmonds, George Northington, Michele Myers, Teresa Powell, Lisa Moore, Regina Green, and Christin Rawlings; (back) Nicholas Evans.

The Student Council Association made life a little more pleasant at BSHS. When we took our suggestions to them they tried their best to satisfy our needs. A tally was taken by the SCA to see if BSHS measured up to the standards of the students. The results were positive.

VICA helped students sharpen their skills in various trades. Women's lib really made an appearance as a female was elected President. Only two girls were members of VICA this year.

Rick Henry waits patiently as his stole, earned by his outstanding grades, is adjusted.

Vica Measures Up Building A Future

Ten students participated in the 1984-85 District XII Skills Contest. Three students who volunteered, participated in the Drafting Contest in Chesterfield at the Drafting Center. Mapping out a floor plan of a sketched house took more time and effort than each contestant thought.

The two most consistent students in Auto Mechanics were chosen to compete in Colonial Heights against other students from District XII. The students had learned their lessons and were tuned up and ready to figure out what was wrong with the car in the contest.

Two students competed in the carpentry contest at Pittman Vocational Center. They realized that finding a job may not be easy. There would be many talented carpenters out there.

Two students were chosen to compete at Pittman Vocational Center in the Masonry competition also. When pushed to the wall, the reps from BSHS layed some bricks.

One student from Metal Shop competed in District XII Skills Contest also. He competed in the Machine Shop contest held at Rowanty. All the class work melted down to a lot of talent and finely machined skills.

People Working Together Journalism Wins Public's Eye

People working together get the job done. In Journalism staff worked hard putting together the yearbook. At the beginning of the year the staff hustled to raise money to finance the production of the yearbook. Class members sold over $1,500 in ads, which was only a fraction of the final cost. Staffers also sold hats and ribbons to help cut the $10,000 price tag. By raising this money the price of each book came to $20. That allowed the yearbook to contain senior color portraits, exciting school events, and at least one picture of everyone.

This school year the class managed to publish a newspaper, Bulldog Beat, that provided up-to-date pictures and hot news articles.

The Journalism class and club not only worked toward the sales of yearbooks but also captured the attention of most of the students by sponsoring a spirit rally and a Journalism dance.

Although the Journalism staff didn't receive much recognition for accomplishments, we enjoyed being the staff that created the book you are now looking through.

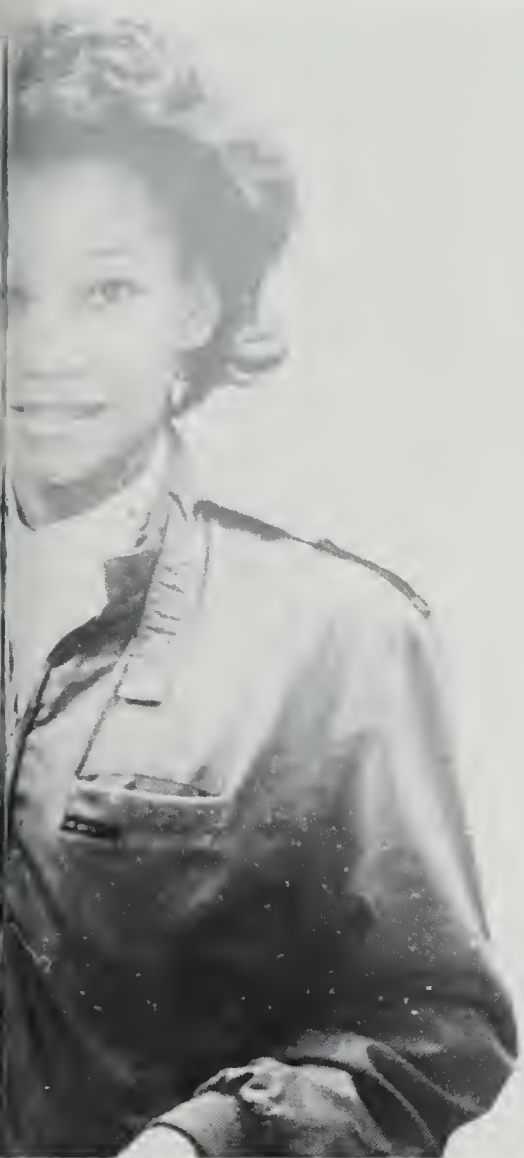

On the one-day sale of yearbooks, Jessie Stith, Journalism Club president, was called out of fourth bell to help Mrs. Gordon sell the first yearbook to Chanel Wesson.

Sylvia Alexander, supposedly making a Journalism run, stops to gossip a moment with Todd Trent and Marilyn Walton.

Getting the job done, Martha Stith and Timmi Toler manage to slip a basketball ribbon sale in at Saint Pauls College during the Greenville season game.

It was not easy, but determined Janine Hicks sold all her basketball spirit ribbons while Timmi Toler backed her up by selling school spirit hats.

Band Has Best Year Since 1963

This year the band visited many places to demonstrate their marching and playing abilities. They participated in several parades including ones at Norfolk State and Virginia Beach.

The Brunswick High Band received an "Excellent" rating in the District III Band Festival held in Richmond. They received a top score, the first for the band since 1963.

The Chorus participated in the first Christmas tree lighting ceremony held in front of the courthouse in Lawrenceville. They also performed a presentation entitled Teen II for the Spring concert.

Rhythm Of The Band

Practice Makes Perfect

Practice, practice, practice was the only thing running through the minds of the students performing for majorette and colorguard. After many hours of vigorous practicing, the right moves were perfected and the members were off to many parades. These included a Christmas parade at Roanoke Rapids, N. C., where they placed second, the fall festival in South Hill, and Norfolk State's Homecoming parade.

A lot of time was spent in making up the various routines for new dance steps. This was done by the dance squad, formerly the colorguard and rifle squad.

The colorguard and majorettes compete against many other bands and rated well. These honors were well earned as much time and effort was spent marching to the rhythm of the band.

Phyllis Jones, Teresa Powell, Denise Chambers, Paulette Pearson, and Connie Smith practice all the moves which would turn them into expert majorettes.

Patricia Ruffin, Angela Johnson and Cheryl Valentin loosen up in spring practice.

Ms. Maxine Massenburg and Ms. Janese Stokes, sponsors of majorettes and colorguard, leave the Homecoming game feeling very satisfied.

Renee McMillan and Linda Easter watch Subrenna Jones as she performs a dance step in the school parking lot during practice.

Melinda Hardy, Tamara Mays, Renee McMillan, Cheryl Valentine, and Lavado Harris listen to the rules and regulations they were to follow.

Pearl Peebles, Francine Cleaton, Jessie Stith, Kathleen Clary, and Melinda Hardy march in the Christmas parade in Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina.

During the actual tryouts Cassandra Easter and Linda Easter prove they have the ability to be "true blue" flag bearers.

SOPHOMORE REIGNS SOPHOMORE REIGNS

After the first week of school we had become used to the Senior High. No more walking into the wrong classrooms, forgetting locker combinations or bumping into Seniors. No, we were Sophomores and we dominated in our own way by mastering our new environment and "learning the ropes." Soon, we began to respect our school and ourselves for being part of the kingdom — the one with "Blue Reign."

Body Heat Sophomores Exercise To The Beat

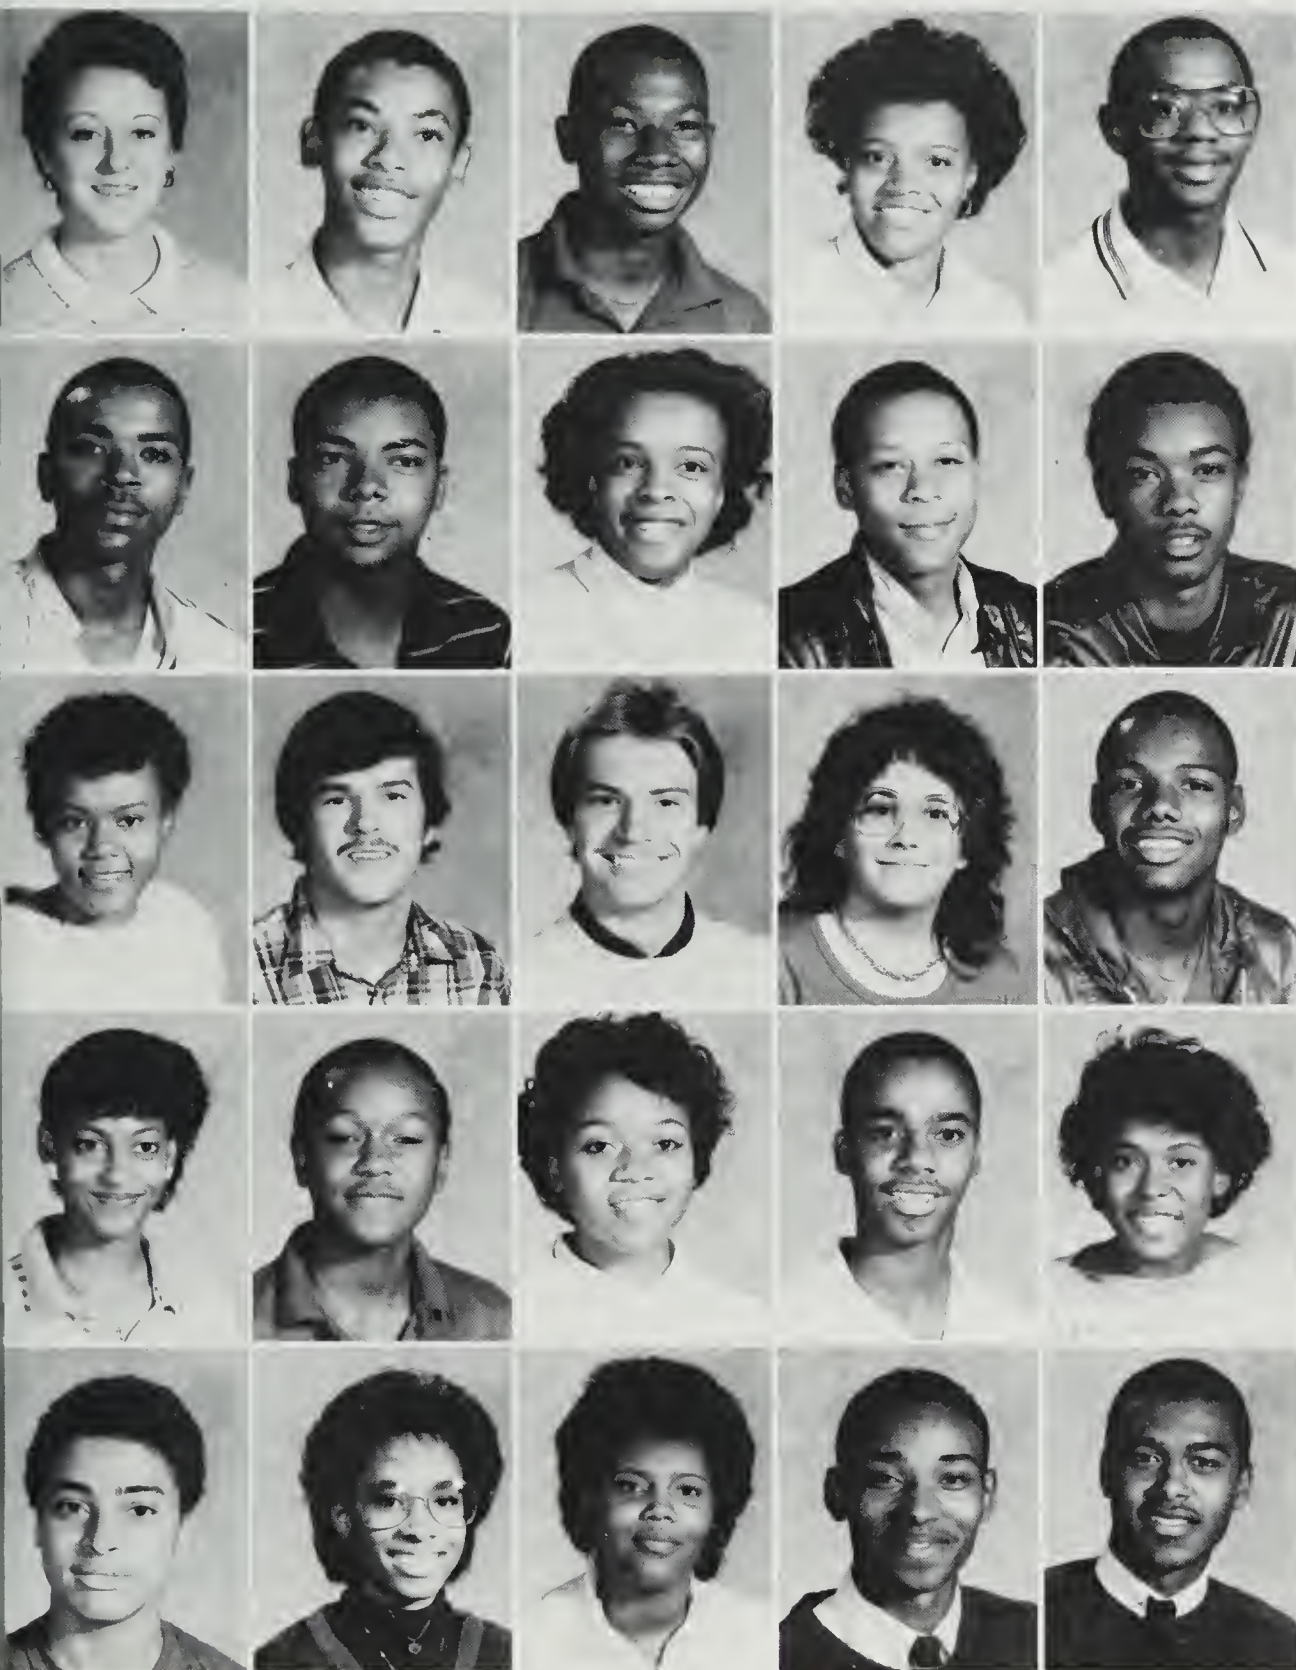

"Young or old, everyone needs a healthy body and Physical Education," said Coach Estella Florez. Coach Florez, sponsor of the cheerleading squad and assistant coach of the softball team, said students get fifty-four minutes of strenuous exercise a day. This aided the students in maintaining their health.

Coach Freddie Reekes agreed that Physical Education should be part of everyone's life. Most people stopped taking physical education in the 10th grade. Coach Reekes, head coach of the girls basketball and softball teams, and assistant coach of the boys basketball team, said that for the people who would like to continue, advanced H.P.E. I and II had been created.

"Physical fitness not only develops the body but it develops the mind also," continued Coach Dale Mims. Coach Mims of the J.V. Football, J.V. Basketball, and Track team, felt it helped an individual become disciplined about the care of their own body. It also developed the mind in terms of coordination and concentration.

Blue Kingdom Subjects Driving Thrills Sophomores

Finally! We couldn't believe it, we were actually going to get our driver's licenses, which wasn't as easy as it sounded. Not only did we have to endure the warning screams from our loving but bothersome parents but we would have to prove to ourselves in front of Mrs. G. Graves and Mr. F. Reekes. That we were safe drivers wasn't easy to do with the fear of their presence watching our every move.

We really realized the responsibility that was given to us as the Judge spoke of some very scary but truthful statistics about teenage drivers. He made it very clear that it was our duty and responsibility to be safe and sportsman-like drivers, for we had other people's lives in our hands.

Reed/Stith

Not knowing what to expect once we got here, we adjusted very well. Many new challenges and opportunities were opened to us.

This year we had a computer lab. It was fun learning how to do different things on them. It made learning a lot more interesting.

We also had many new privileges we hadn't had before. We had a smoking area we could use to sit down and talk with one another. We also had a break after our first period class. This made it a lot easier to make it until lunch time.

Also the cafeteria was new to us. We could choose from the regular menu or go through an a la carte line. We didn't have to stay in the cafeteria when we finished lunch. We could go where we wanted.

Taking advantage of the unusually warm weather this fall, Agatha Harrison enjoys a milkshake and a bag of chips while talking to Sondra Cleaton.

Sophomores Inherit Privileges

Finally, we inherited privileges that we had dreamed about for years.

Now as sophomores we had a five minute break. Smoking was made legitimate. We could smoke at break or lunch at the smoking area which still looked new after three years.

Student here could have visitors at lunch, play volleyball or basketball during lunch, or buy milk shakes, twinkies, and chocolate cookies during break and lunch.

We drove with the driver education teacher after receiving our learner's permit.

We had a store close enough to go to after school for a snack before heading home.

We could come to the games and cheer for the Bulldogs and come to the dances knowing that we were one of the Bulldogs.

SPORTSREIGNSPORTSREIGNSPORTS

Whether it was fall, winter, or spring at Brunswick, there was always a sport to participate in, and a winning team for which to cheer!

Once again Brunswick "reigned" in the area of sports, capturing several district and regional titles and always coming out on top with the fans.

Playing in a sport is one thing, but having the support of the school behind you is something totally different. And as most athletes at Brunswick know, spirit in a game is as important as the game itself.

And the crowd went wild! Brian Stith's "slam dunk," the only one of the season at the Brunswick-Greenville game, gave the crowd a reason to scream and cheer the Bulldogs on to VICTORY!!

Excitement, tension, and determination was present at the season-ending Brunswick vs. Greenville game, and the faces of these fans make it obvious.

Golf Team Takes District

The Golf team began the season with a confident attitude. Winning seven matches this year and losing only three, the team made it to the regionals. Regional participants gave a valiant effort trying to win against their opponents.

Before the season moved on, the golf team received a personal invitation to play in the Nelson-Wintergreen Invitational, and of the twenty-five school participating in the event, our team placed ninth.

The final victory provided a "good attitude" to go to regionals. The support and confidence each player had for each other helped them go through the season with winning colors.

Damsels Rise Four Straight

Glowing with power and talent, the Lady Bulldogs brought the basketball season to a close with the Southside District Title for the fourth consecutive year.

The Lady Bulldogs Basketball team was a very young and inexperienced group that did not have the "hot hand" early in the season, but improved rapidly.

The Team passed unlimited capabilities on the court. This was proven with a district record of 9-1 and an overall record of 12-7. The Royal Bulldogs had an outstanding rebound average of 31.3% and a field goal average of 42.3%.

Coach Freddie Reekes and Ms. Debra Dawson made an unbeatable coaching combination using techniques that were unique. The coaches gave instructions from the side lines as well as encouragement in the locker room during halftime.

The determined expression of Adela Jones matches the fierce expression of the Bulldog on the wall during a scrimmage against the Indians.

Tina Evans exercises grace and control during the second quarter in hopes of breaking the 12 to 12 tie in the Brunswick vs. Indians game, while Tara Owens blocked out her opponent.

Tara Owens shoots the ball to add another two points to her average to become one of the team's high scorers.

JV Goes For The Goal Line Way To Go!

For the past several years, passing has brought the team into the winner's circle. But good coaches know you cannot live with only one strategy, so this year, Coach Dale Mims sucessfully had the JV's work on their rushing.

Several of the football players began practicing rushing techniques more than passing techniques.

In the past, the offensive line learned to hold the defensive line to allow pass plays to develop. This season the offensive line learned to blow a hole straight through a defensive line and dominated the secondary.

Play after play led to an exciting climax, helping the team stay on their feet instead of their stomachs. Hard work and practice got them to the Districts.

Overall totals at the end of the season proved that the rushing game had a dramatic effect with an average increase of 18-20% in rushing yardage over the last three years.

Everret Gillus, Sterline Thompson, Glenn Peterson, Kenneth Wilson, Carson Phillips, Harold Reavis, and Carlton Walker anxiously await blowing a hole through the Greenville defense.

Bulldogs Come Out On Top

According to Coach Mike Rainey, "It was a total team effort" that brought home the District Championship in football for the first time in eighteen seasons. Continuing, Rainey pointed out that the team "met or exceeded its goals" with stats like five defensive shutouts against teams such as Park View, Nottoway and Randolph-Henry. The stats of yardage gained staggers the mind. The team doubled past years' efforts, falling just short of 2000 yards.

Fielding 31 players and two managers, the team dropped a long losing streak with a 3-1-1 district record and a 6-1-1 overall record.

"Outstanding Senior leadership and experience" explains how the team got to a district championship.

Coach Rainey's last comment: "I hope we don't have to wait another 18 years for another Championship."

James Meredith will come very close to blocking this Duke punt as William Rivers also gets by his man in a winning effort against Windsor.

Travis Ganes and Jimmy Spillane wonder how to get more yardage out of the next play as an unfortunate Bulldog goes down.

JoJo Owens drops a Duke as William Rivers, Herman Morgan, James Meredith and Joe Meredith demonstrate something that helped the team win this year — follow up!!

We Stood The Test Of Tide

The offensive line of Jimmy Spillane, William Rivers, Nicky Evans, and Roger Malone with Tony Ruffin at center, Martin Astrop at quarterback and Channel Wesson at fullback, get set for a short ground gainer against Greenville: 13-6.

This year the Football team ended a great season with a record of 6-3. This was the best they've done since 1972.

The goal of the Football team was to score three times allowing the opposing team to score only twice per game. The team's goal was to make 180 points allowing the defense only 140 points for the season. The Bulldogs were close to this goal with an average of over 150 points.

The average points per game was fifteen. The defense only gave up 8 points per game. Penalties weren't bad but cost the team two games. One was against Franklin 0-6 and the other against Central Lunenburg 6-32.

The main reason for this great season was because the players wanted to play football. The experience was also a great factor for the winning season. The experience made the line strong with nine players from the previous year playing. The team was better prepared and more organized.

Trying to make a tackle James Meredith receives teamwork effort as Willie Gillis turns the play to the center. Joe Meredith, Derek Mason, and Roger Malone are ready to give additional help if the play breaks through.

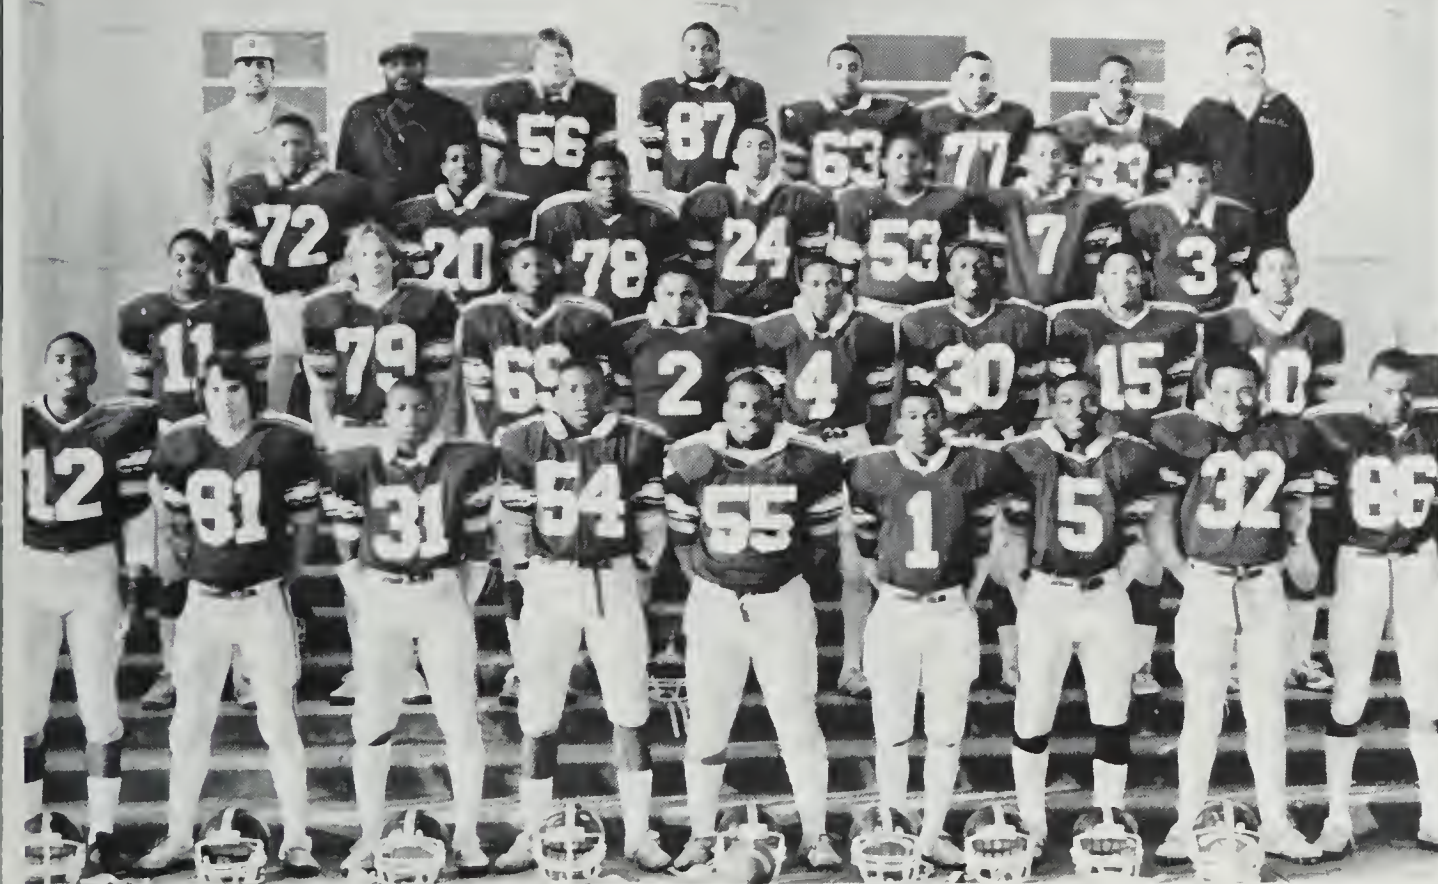

Charles Marks, Nicky Evans, and Martin Astrop try to break the line with help from Channel Wesson and Jimmy Spillane as Paul Gee, William Rivers, and Tony Riffin pull their opponents out of place.

Channel Wesson leads this first quarter block for Reginald Walker as Martin Astrop covers the rear in Brunswick's defeat of Greenville 13-6.

Pups Take Two

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team showed their "pup power" with a district record of 9-1 and an overall record of 17-1. The one loss was a forfeit against Park View because of an ineligible player. To Coach Mims the record was 18-0.

This team played as a team. They were fundamentally sound and extremely quick. The pups were very aggressive; they had to be. Their size was not intimidating. Their practices lasted an hour and 15 minutes everyday. The field goal percentage this year was up to 60%, an increase of 10% over previous years. Their outstanding rebound average offensively was 18 per game and defensively was 16 per game.

This is the 2nd year in a row the pups took the District Title and the Tournament. During the Championship game the pups were down at halftime to a team they had defeated twice. They regained their pup power and defeated Bluestone: 46-40.

Mr. Dale Baird proudly presents the JV Basketball team with the District Cup at Park View Senior High: Coach Dale Mims, Jimmy Jones, Sterling Thompson, Kenneth Wilson, Robert Hill, and Eric Lee.

Terrell Owens shows the pup power in his arm as he scores two points against Greenville: 69-48.

Eric Lee battles for possession of a jump ball as Jimmy Jones and Stephon Reid get into position against Bluestone, 46-40.

"Whoosh!" Reginald Walker exclaims, as he launches yet another foul shot against Greenville, 69-48.

Basketball Takes 10th District

The team's District Championship made Bulldog History. For the 10th straight year we dominated the courts.

Winning the District Championship came as a surprise. The coaches considered this season a “rebuilding period” for the team, and concentrated more on training young players rather than on winning actual games. In spite of a car accident, injured ankles, flu, and a head injury, the Bulldogs' continued the tradition of winning and brought the District crown home again.

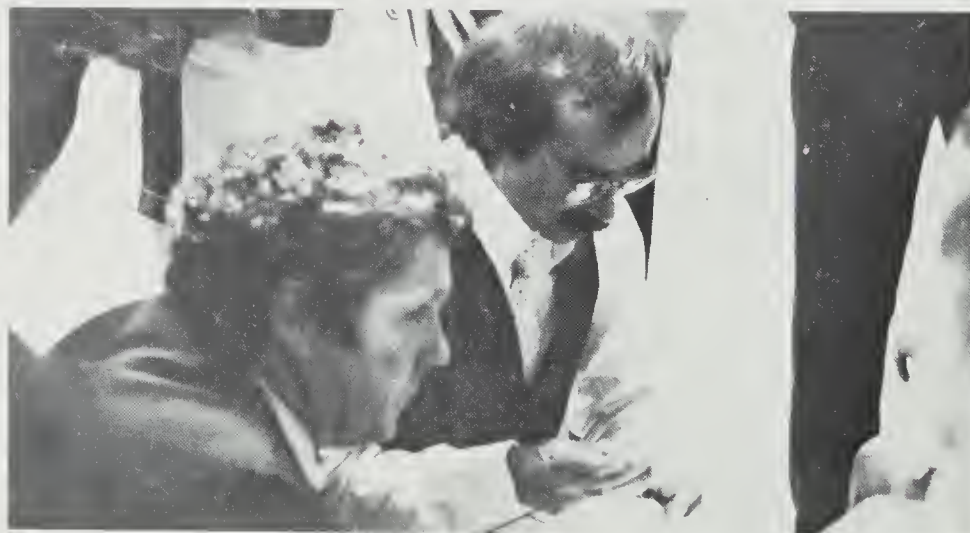

Brunswick's previous fame attracted new schools to compete in the Basketball schedule. They came — they saw — we conquered.

The biggest thriller in the Bulldog season was dunking. Paul Gee said, “Bryant Stith's dunk was a thriller to the crowd.” Tonya Taylor committed, “It was a monster dunk.” JoJo Owens said, “Bryant brought the crowd to its feet.” Players stated that there will be a lot more slamming next year.

Breaking out of the huddle during the last Greenville game, Loren Goldsberry gets fired up to go back on the court as he hands Mike Clary the water.

During a crucial time out, Coaches Burke and Reekes decide what the next defense will be in a winning effort against Nottoway.

During the last few minutes of the game Alvin Edmonds, Mike Cheely, Ruth Thomas, and William Vaughan really start to wonder what the outcome will be just as Brunswick defeated Greenville with a last second jump-shot: 69-67.

Young Team Not Denied Crown

Coming into the District Tournament the Bulldogs were seeded first, pitted against Randolph Henry on Friday night. The Bulldogs defeated the Statesmen 87-76.

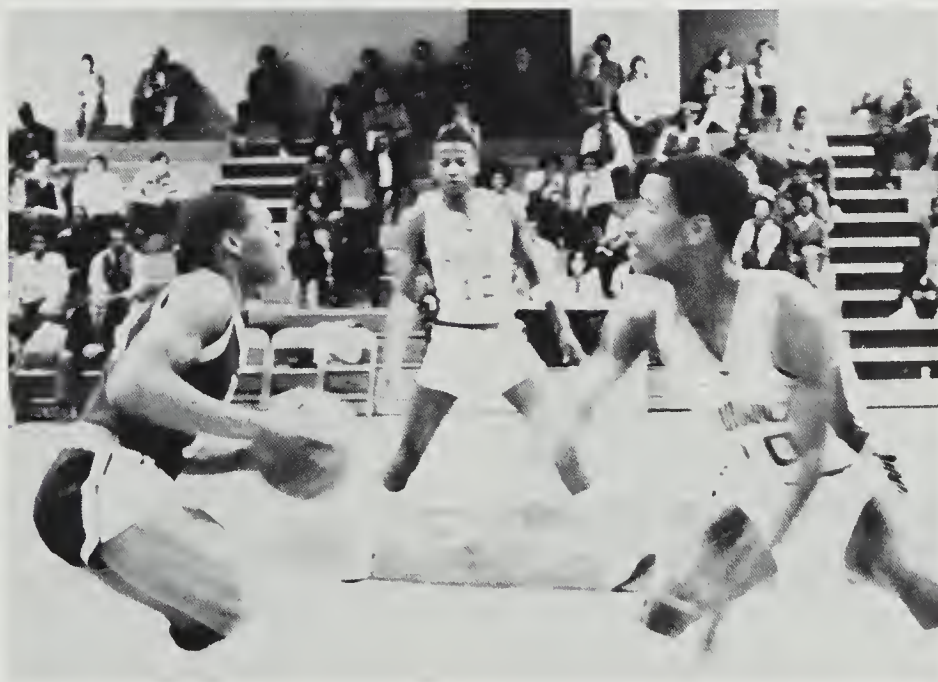

On Saturday night we played the second seeded Greenville Eagles — our big rival. Early in the game the fans looked more intimidated than the players as several fans from both sides had lots of things to get off their chest about who was really the best. The game meant home court advantage to both teams because regional play would start the next week and both teams wanted to be on top.

Brunswick defeated Greenville 62-59 and was ready to head to Virginia State University for the first round of the regionals against Central of Sussex.

Brunswick had more support than the team had ever had and it was a big boost for the Bulldogs knowing that they had true fans. The Bulldog defense was at its best, holding Sussex's big guy to only 17 points and keeping the game within reach. But the Bulldogs couldn't quite get the lead and Central went on to defeat the Bulldogs 54-63.

And as the team walked off the floor, players turned to the fans and said "We were just too young, but we will return."

Those Eternal Days and Knights Bulldogs Practice

The art of winning can be mastered by only one thing — staying after school for what seems like an eternity. Every day of the week dogs and doggettes practiced.

The track team members, the softball players and baseball players know what practice can do for you. It does two things. First, it makes you tired. Second, and most importantly, it makes you the best.

Rain, snow, wind or the blazing sun can't stop those Bulldogs from practicing. No matter what day it was, what the temperature was, or what time it was, someone could always be found somewhere practicing something. Those Bulldogs knew that you can never improve yourself if you don't practice!! If anyone knows, it is the track, softball and baseball teams, because they experienced these eternal workouts.

During batting practice, Tony Studivant spends time in the cage to improve his hitting average.

Surrounded by opponents, Coach Vernon Hollins, Keith Wynn, Herman Morgan and Horatio Nunn cheer the bluehounds on to victory.

Alisa Beasley and Tina Evans watch Tina Stith as she works on long fly balls.

Joey Hammack prepares to take on the pitching machine. George Coleman loads fast balls into the machine and Keith Wynn and Mike Clary wait for the hit.

Michael Martin vaults the bar as Ozey Jones prepares to do the same. The baseball team practices in the background.

Everyday on the softball field would find Linda Alexander, Lolita Clary, Shaun Stith (catcher), Sylvia Alexander (at bat), Janice Johnson and Yolanda Peterson hard at work.

The Track team and Baseball team have to share the same field when practicing. Everett Gillus jumps hurdles as Ryan Henry practices around him.

Defense is surely what the Lady Bulldogs have as Sylvia Alexander throws an Eaglette out at first base while Loleta Clary, Janice Johnson, and Alisa Beasley wait to see what will develop.

Tina Evans in her losing effort to Greenville, throws the ball across the plate as Timu Stith, Alisa Beasley and Linda Alexand wait for the ball to come their way.

Putting On The Hits Batter Up!

As the year went on through the winter, everyone was waiting for the Spring to arrive, especially the girls who were interested in softball. Practice started early. Around the end of February, approximately 25 girls went out. They didn't care how cold and wet the breezy air was, the girls just tried hard to meet the requirements for the team. When the time came for the cut, everyone was nervous. Coaches Reekes and Florez kept 18 girls and, man, they made a team!

They started off having a hard time as they lost to Sussex 5-1 and 13-3. But they didn't let that get them down as they came back strong with a score of 24-8 and 19-5 to win against Prince Edward.

As usual the girls ended with an outstanding record of 11-6 with only 2 seniors compared to the five they had last year. The girls really knew what "batter up" meant. They made it back to the regionals and met up with Sussex again, but lost.

Tina Evans pitches her perfect pitch trying to strike out a Park View Dragon: 32 to 4.

Blue Knights Baseball Team Defends Kingdom

Ending the baseball season with one of the best district records ever accomplished at Brunswick, the "Blue Knights" reigned with pride and power over the southside district.

Called the "most talented team I've ever coached," by Coach Tuffy Leemon, the baseball team finished with a district record of 6-3. Most of the credit for the team's success goes to the infielders defense, consisting of two seniors, two juniors and a sophomore. This power-packed team defeated Nottoway twice, Park View twice, and finished with two glorious victories over arch-rival — Greenville.

Coach Tuffy Leemon explains to the team some smart moves, while the players listen with all ears open: (l to r) Kelvin Harris, Herman (Bull) Morgan, Robbie Clary, Randy Lynch, Coach Leemon, Ryan Henry, Roger Malone, George Coleman, Andy Walker, Keith Wynn, Tony Studivant and Coach Gary Crane.

As the pitch is delivered, Roger Malone prepares to gun out a runner from first base

A Second Is A Terrible Thing To Waste

The Track Team had some new equipment this year. These additions were the pole vault and the long jump pit and an official length track. As a result the track team had its first track meet at BSHS.

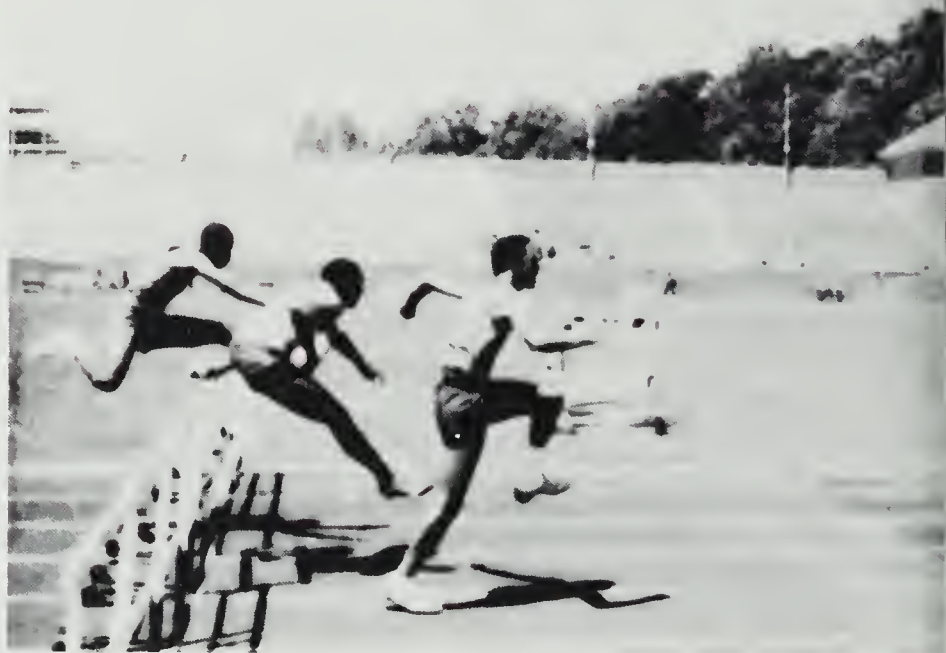

The Track team made it to a district win this year with a 7-0 record. It's been a long time since they've qualified in the district. Many members qualified for the regional playoffs. The regionals were held at William and Mary in Williamsburg. One student made it to the state competition.

Love! Racquetters Take Second

The most amazing thing about watching a tennis practice is the number of little yellow balls rolling around the court. The fact that no one breaks a leg on them attests to the quickness of the individuals on the team.

As seen in the team photo, a girl worked with the team this year. Another sign that things are really changing around here.

Tennis is gaining popularity in southside and taking second in the District was no easy matter. With the four seniors on the team, the Racquetters continued the Bulldog's Blue Reign.

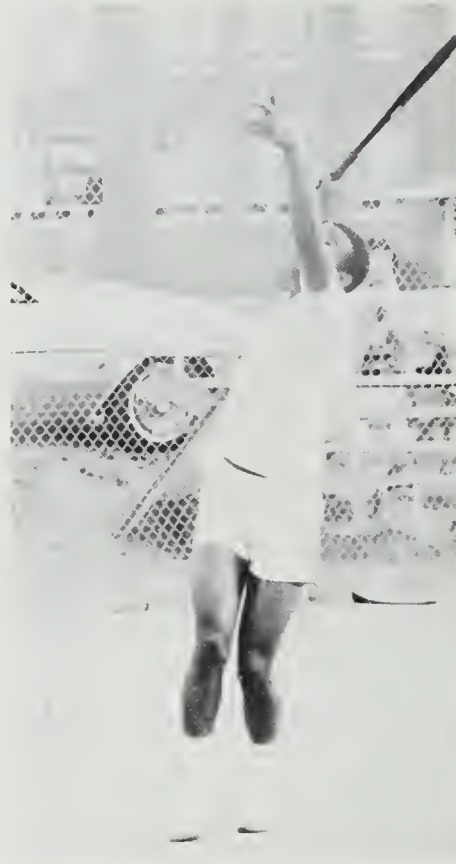

The Tennis Team: (l to r) Wally Edwards, Doug Lipton, Violet Mays, William Vaughan, Harrell Reavis, Robbie Edwards, Markeith Fenderson, Loren Goldsberry, Rick Henry, Coach Mike Bollinger and seated, Paul Gee.

The new larger racquets had many followers this year as Paul Gee practices serves early in the season.

In warm-ups, Robbie Edwards makes sure everything is working in his serve.

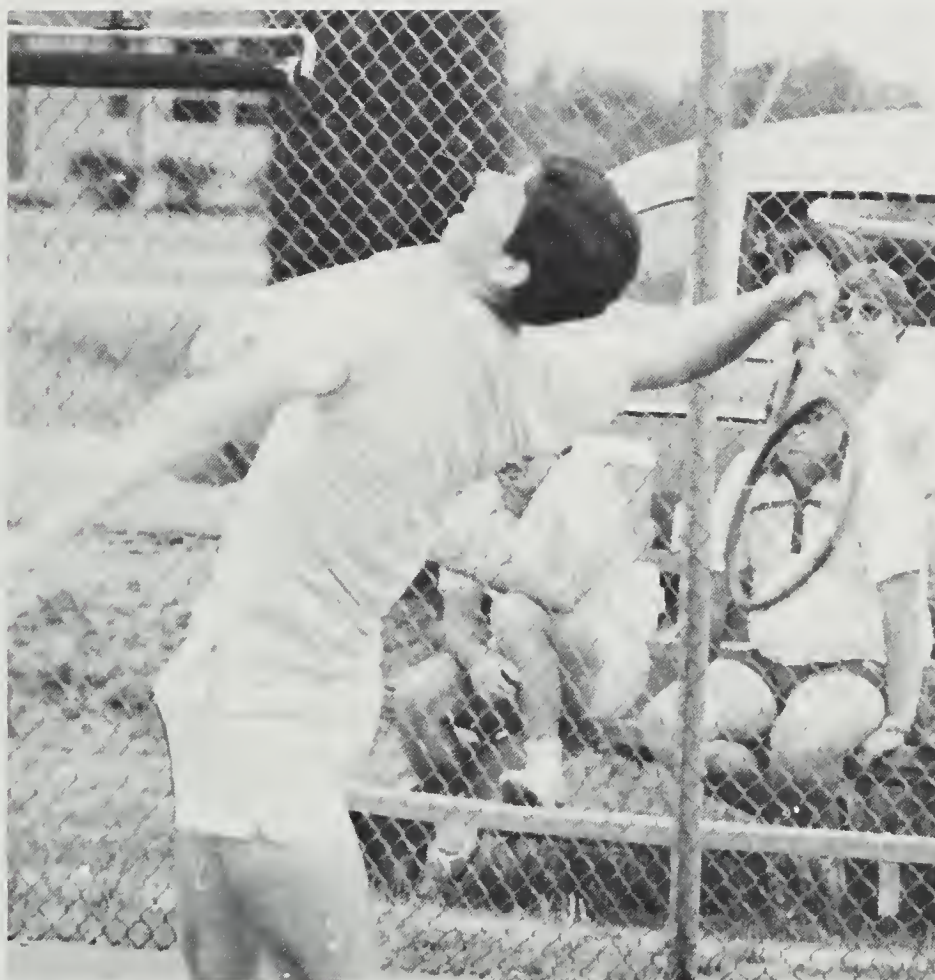

Loren Goldsberry "toes the line" with this serve, but this fault was only caught by the camera.

Though outwardly relaxing, Wally Edwards tightens both his mental attitudes and his physical prowess before an early district match.

Timing is critical in a serve as Rick Henry leans all his power into that first serve.

Doug Lipton will ace this serve for a point in a winning effort against Amelia.

JUNIORSREIGNJUNIORSREIGNJUNIORS

As Juniors, we found ourselves approaching the final years of high school and facing them with anticipation.

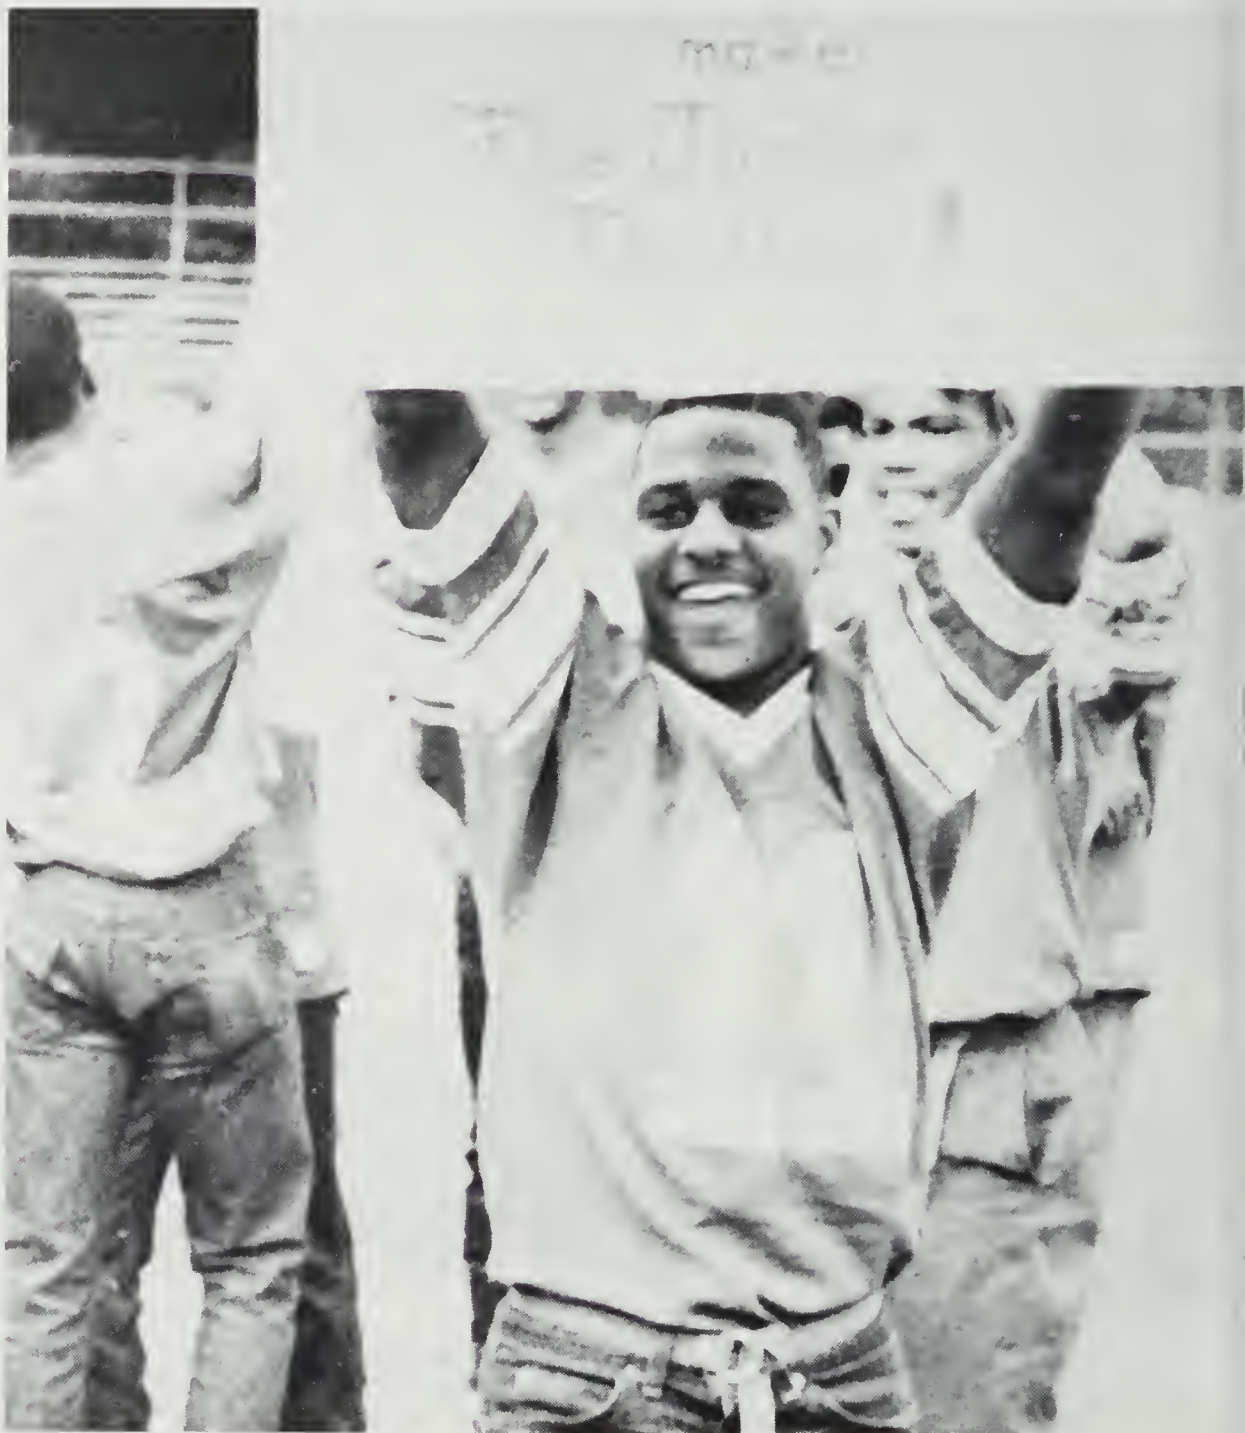

By already being familiar with our surroundings; we easily slid into our routine and watched the school year slip by quickly.

We were considered "the middle" of Blue Reign, and held our ground with the supremacy that only comes from Brunswick.

Juniors Accept Responsibility Challenge

Early in November, students entered the Guidance Office as mere Juniors and some came out eager, college-bound young men and women.

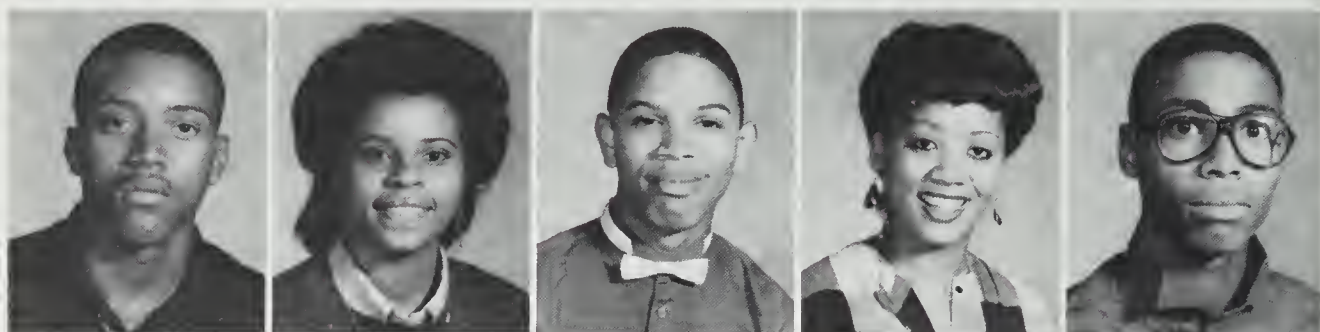

The feeling of nervousness as we approached the Guidance Office was tremendous but so was the feeling of triumph when the door closed behind as we left.

Choosing a college was a big responsibility. U. Va. lured many with its law program. V.P.I.'s engineering program proved optimum for some while Virginia State and St. Pauls various programs aroused many of us. We found SVCC provided us with heretofore unknown possibilities. John Tyler offered a wide variety of business courses. There were even colleges that specialized in Business Education in Richmond. VWC offered students a good mathematical and science program. ODU grabbed students by its social reputation. Some of the most disciplined students were enticed by the Army, Navy, or Marines. And the out-of-state college handbooks filled an entire wall in the Guidance Office.

There were some Juniors that didn't want to attend college at all, but that decision was a big responsibility, too.

The Great Comeback Life Goes on

A beautiful cloud of joy burst when the Junior class reunited for the second year in high school. We had only one thing on our minds — finishing the year and becoming Seniors. Dreaming so much of becoming a Senior, the identity of being a Junior was sometimes lost.

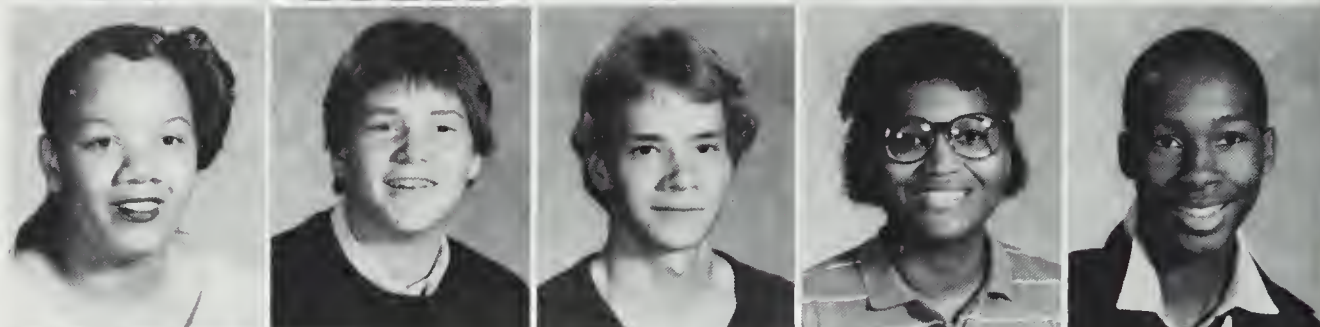

There were many upsets throughout the year. Upsets that didn't stop us from pursuing our dreams. We took time out to write letters, send cards and flowers to Martin Astrop after his accident. Glen Roberts, John Lewis, Jimmy Spillane, James Willhite and Mark Lucy were also involved in a very critical accident that could have been fatal. With the fact that only one of them was a Junior we soon realized that being a Senior did not mean having a larger identity, but being who we made of ourselves. We realized that Life Goes On and that our Junior year held many exciting moments — moments that no one in the class of 86 cared to miss.

Stuck In The Middle It's Not Easy

After mastering being a sophomore and learning the do's and don'ts of Brunswick Senior High, we gained a little respect by advancing from a beginner to a middleman. All the while we were getting closer to the year in which we would be Seniors. But for now we could only hope for good grades. One way our "non-existence" was succumbed was preparing for our futures. Taking the PSAT on Saturday October 20, in the cafeteria, and also battling the SAT on Saturday November 3, at St. Paul's College, caused a great deal of frustration. Both of those days were extremely nice, too nice to be cooped-up in any kind of building taking a test, even though it was for our future.

But responsibility over-ruled rebellion as we struggled through both of those tests, realizing they could only help our future.

Ring Around the Finger

Treasured Gems Excite Juniors.

"Should I get gold or silver?" "Do you think I should get my birthstone or the school colors?"

These were just a few of the questions Juniors asked during the first few weeks of school. We were finally getting our class rings! It seemed like centuries before we finally got them, but in reality, it was only a matter of months.

Some of us ordered them from a local jewelry store because a matter of months was too long to wait. Though there wasn't much difference in the price by ordering from school or from a jewelry store, time was the object, not money. The sooner we got them, the better.

We had many different choices and selections. Most rings remained in the $20-$200 price range (though some of us went over).

When we received our rings, not only was it a joyous occasion but also a memorable one. Our class "rings-around-our-fingers" distinguished us as Juniors.

So the ring around the finger would be the perfect size, Randy Jones gets his finger measured by Herff Jones Representative.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES REIGNS SPECIAL

During the months of October and November you would have thought the students enrolled in Government classes knew "Ron" and "Fritz" personally by the way they expressed themselves in classroom conversations and debates. Students made it clear whether or not they liked Ronald Reagan, Walter Mondale, neither or both. They backed their political party by displaying posters throughout the school and around their assigned electoral precinct during Election day as they tried to persuade people, 50 ft. from the precinct doors, to vote for their candidate.

Ryland Tucker and Orlando Gillus display their stunning ability to "pop" and "lock" as the students in the background look on.

Self-Esteem

Good Things Come In Small Packages

The year started off with no excitement. On September 6, 1984 we had an assembly and Reggie Smith brought us excitement. He joked around and even brought a puppet.

Teachers yell and scream at us all year because we lack self-respect. Reggie was here one day and when the jokes were over we realized that he, too, was trying to make us more aware of our potential as human beings.

Reggie Smith brought self-esteem to Brunswick Sr. High by personification. He gave the little puppet new life, as well as the audience. The little puppet, self-esteem, proved that good things really do come in small packages.

Sweet Sensations “Cater”-pillars Create A Stir

The catering class helped to sweeten dispositions on Valentine's Day as the students sold twenty-two Valentine's cakes. These cakes were such hot items that for the remainder of the year special order cakes rolled out of the kitchen. Not only did the baking cause a stir, the decorations were sweet sensations also.

Since these cakes appealed to the sense of sight as well as the sense of taste, even the loneliest heart was tempted.

The class arranged a delicious selection of food for the teachers' Christmas reception and made refreshments for the class' Teacher Open House.

As the sweet smells of success drifted through the class, parents and students got a taste of the class. The “Cater”-pillars made homemade peanutbutter cookies and snicker doodles for Spring Open House.

Not only did they cater to parents, teachers, and students, the catering class catered to the needs of the cafeteria staff when they helped to serve special luncheons to the Board of Supervisors and the Administrative Review Team.

After a busy day of making a student's Birthday cake, Cynthia Meredith takes the time to wrap things up.

Head “Cater”-pillar, Mrs. Smith, teaches Kathy Peterson, Irma Ruffin, and Pamela Clairborne how to whip up a frosting as Patricia Trusty and Doris Powell bring their work to a peak.

Sharon Thomas, Pamela Clairborne, Melissa Craig, and Sharena Parham really get cracking once it is realized that they can make their pie and eat it too.

Never underestimate the powers of a "cater"-pillar, for a good one, like Mrs. Smith, never overlooks a little nitty-gritty.

Caught in a sticky situation, Sharon Thomas takes a final plunge into a cool whip.

Though it's just after lunch, Kathy Peterson catches Patricia Trusty in the act of satisfying her sweet tooth while Mrs.

Smith explains why bowls come in different sizes.

If asked, Theresa Williams will probably say, "I am making yet another cake for Valentine's Day."

Spare Time!!

Relax! Don't Do It!

Relax? With everyone taking more classes and with the new research and reading requirements, a "relaxed" student became a rare sight this year.

In the past, students lounged in the halls with drinks and chips, but this year books tagged along on the feasts. As the new twenty and twenty-two credit diplomas became a reality and a requirement, many relatively small classes began to overflow, particularly the foreign languages, maths and sciences. Conversations in French and Spanish were sometimes muffled through the chips, but they were there. A few drawings were reportedly ruined by drinks, also.

The Library had a record year with the standardized reading requirements in the English and Social Studies Departments. By the last quarter of the year, the place was constantly filled with students flipping pages and scribbling notes for those unbelievable termpapers.

And now for the good news. No fatalities or even major injuries were attributed to all this work!!

Senior Tessie Jarrell lands a job (in this area not an easy thing to do) in the school cafeteria. She, along with Mr. Lambert, serve cheeseburgers on the regular line.

Lunch and warm weather find Smantha Grant, Sheila Hargrove and Cynthia Hicks at the front entrance relaxing, just a few days before the big push for final exams starts.

Break allows everyone to get their hands on some energy boosters like drinks and nabs and to release some frustrations, in many different forms, or Yolanda Peterson and Leslie Hill do both.

Keeping stats keeps Rick Henry busy on the sidelines during the season as the Bulldogs grind out a District Championship.

The joy of writing term papers caused the library to overflow most of the year, but here, Dawne Scott finds the abundance of materials and the peaceful atmosphere helpful as she looks for more words to fill a paper for Mrs. Evans' English class.

Derek Mason and Loren Goldsberry attempt to get a head start while Journalism members Kim Caswell and Janine Hicks break down the rules of the Tricycle Race.

Bulldog Thunder Blue Reign Unleashed.

School spirit really flashed Wednesday with punk rock day. This year students punked out with everything from "kool-aid colored hair" to designer trash bags.

On Wednesday evening students struck again with a bonfire followed by a spirit rally. The Bulldogs even included their very own memorial service for their rivals, the Charles City Panthers.

The Homecoming Court awed their specatators on Thursday with their charm and wit. One contestant remarked that she was "sparkling, fresh, and easily digested." Since the young ladies were so charming and delightful, fellow classmates had a hard time marking their ballots during lunch.

Bulldogs showed their true colors on Friday as they displayed their "blue and white." Spirit was also evident during the spirit rally that afternoon. There was plenty of time for fun and games as the classes competed for the spirit stick. To their dismay, for the first time in Bulldog history, there was a three way tie.

Friday night marked the climax of Homecoming Week as the Bulldogs dominated the Panthers, 45-0, and the Homecoming Queen, Miss Angela Carter, and her princesses, Miss Kristie Simmons, Miss Vivian Jones, and Miss Virginia Walker were announced. Students found it necessary to conclude their Homecoming activities with a dance to celebrate their victories, featuring special guest D.J.'s, the Beat Boys III.

Night of the Stars

Homecoming Takes Full Reign

Anticipation filled Spirit Week as everyone wondered who would be crowned Homecoming Queen.

The night of Homecoming was not only a victory for the Bulldogs with the win over the Charles City Panthers, but it was also a victory for Angela Carter as she was crowned Homecoming Queen at half-time. Beth Tanner, last years Homecoming Queen, passed the crown to her successor.

Each year contestants for Homecoming Queen and Princess show the student body their favorite leisure and evening apparel. They answer questions expressing their opinion on views on a matter. The questions may seem simple, but when it comes to answering them, they do require thought.

Twelve contestants for the homecoming court competed against each other for the win. The grueling practices helped them perform perfectly and they always managed to keep a happy face while on stage.

Kristie Simmons was chosen Sophomore Class Princess, Vivian Jones was chosen Junior Class Princess, and Virginia Walker was crowned the Senior Class Princess.

Virginia Walker, escorted by Darryl Coleman, was chosen Senior Princess and presented with a ribbon by last years Homecoming Queen, Beth Tanner.

INPUT Technology Excels

By the end of this century 75% of all jobs will involve computers. It is evident that students will need to learn how to use the computers in school.

Our school was fortunate enough to have been granted the money to purchase a computer lab. Our lab consisted of 16 Commodore 64 computers. The Math and Language Arts Departments used this computer lab all year.

The Business Education Department had 17 TRS-80 Model III and four other computers. One was in the word processing lab where documents were typed, revised, edited and then printed. One computer was also located in the Office Technology lab. It was used to teach simple word processing and automative office procedures.

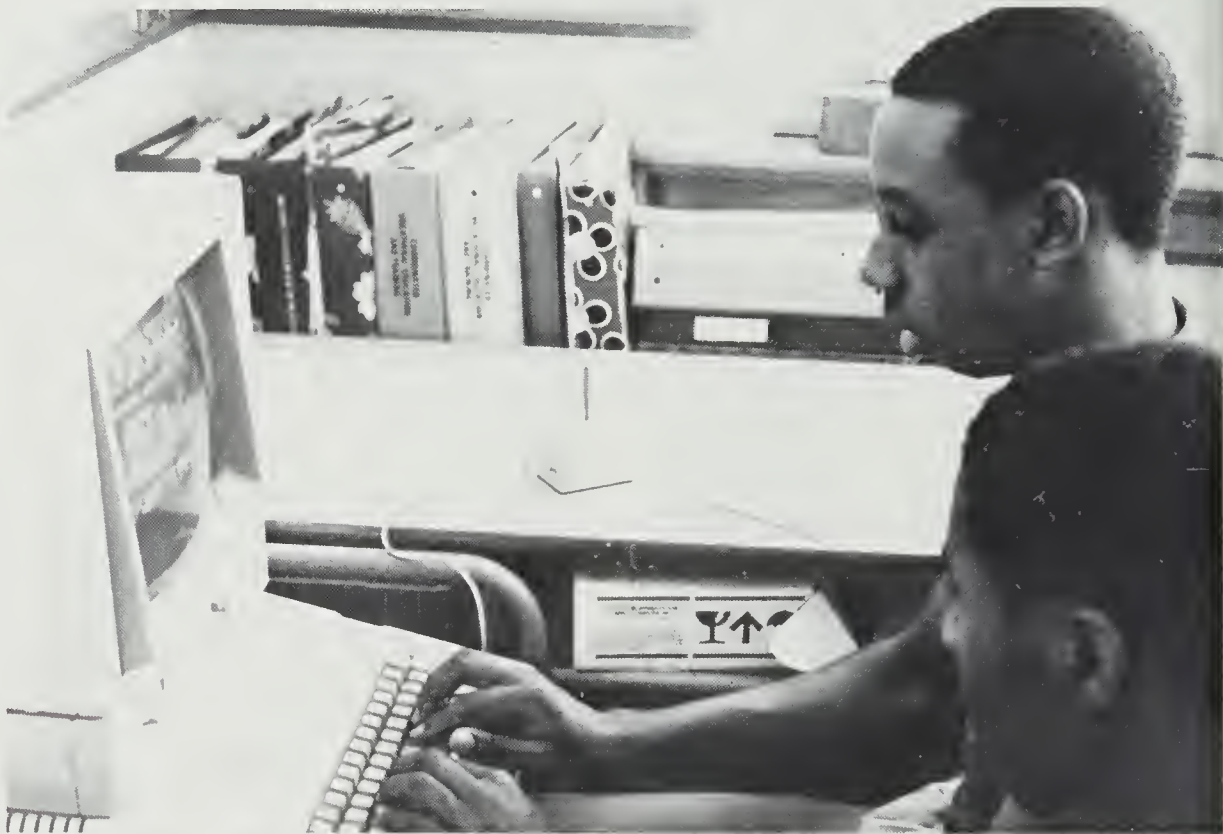

The Business Computer Applications lab had 15 computers. They were used to teach Basic programming, automative accounting, data base applications, electronic spread sheet applications and word processing applications.

The Mathematics Department has an Apple Computer which was used in the Calculus classes. The Drafting class has an Apple computer which was used in career education. The Metal Trades class has a computerized lathe machine.

You can expect to see Mr. Nichols, or any other teacher, and Ms. Cheely in the library during free time working on a dialogue.

Anthony Jones and Ricky Goodrich go through the Apple IIe Career Search Program to "pick" a fruitful career.

Looking for the right answer, Sandra Jackson waits to hear from other Battle of the Brains team members.

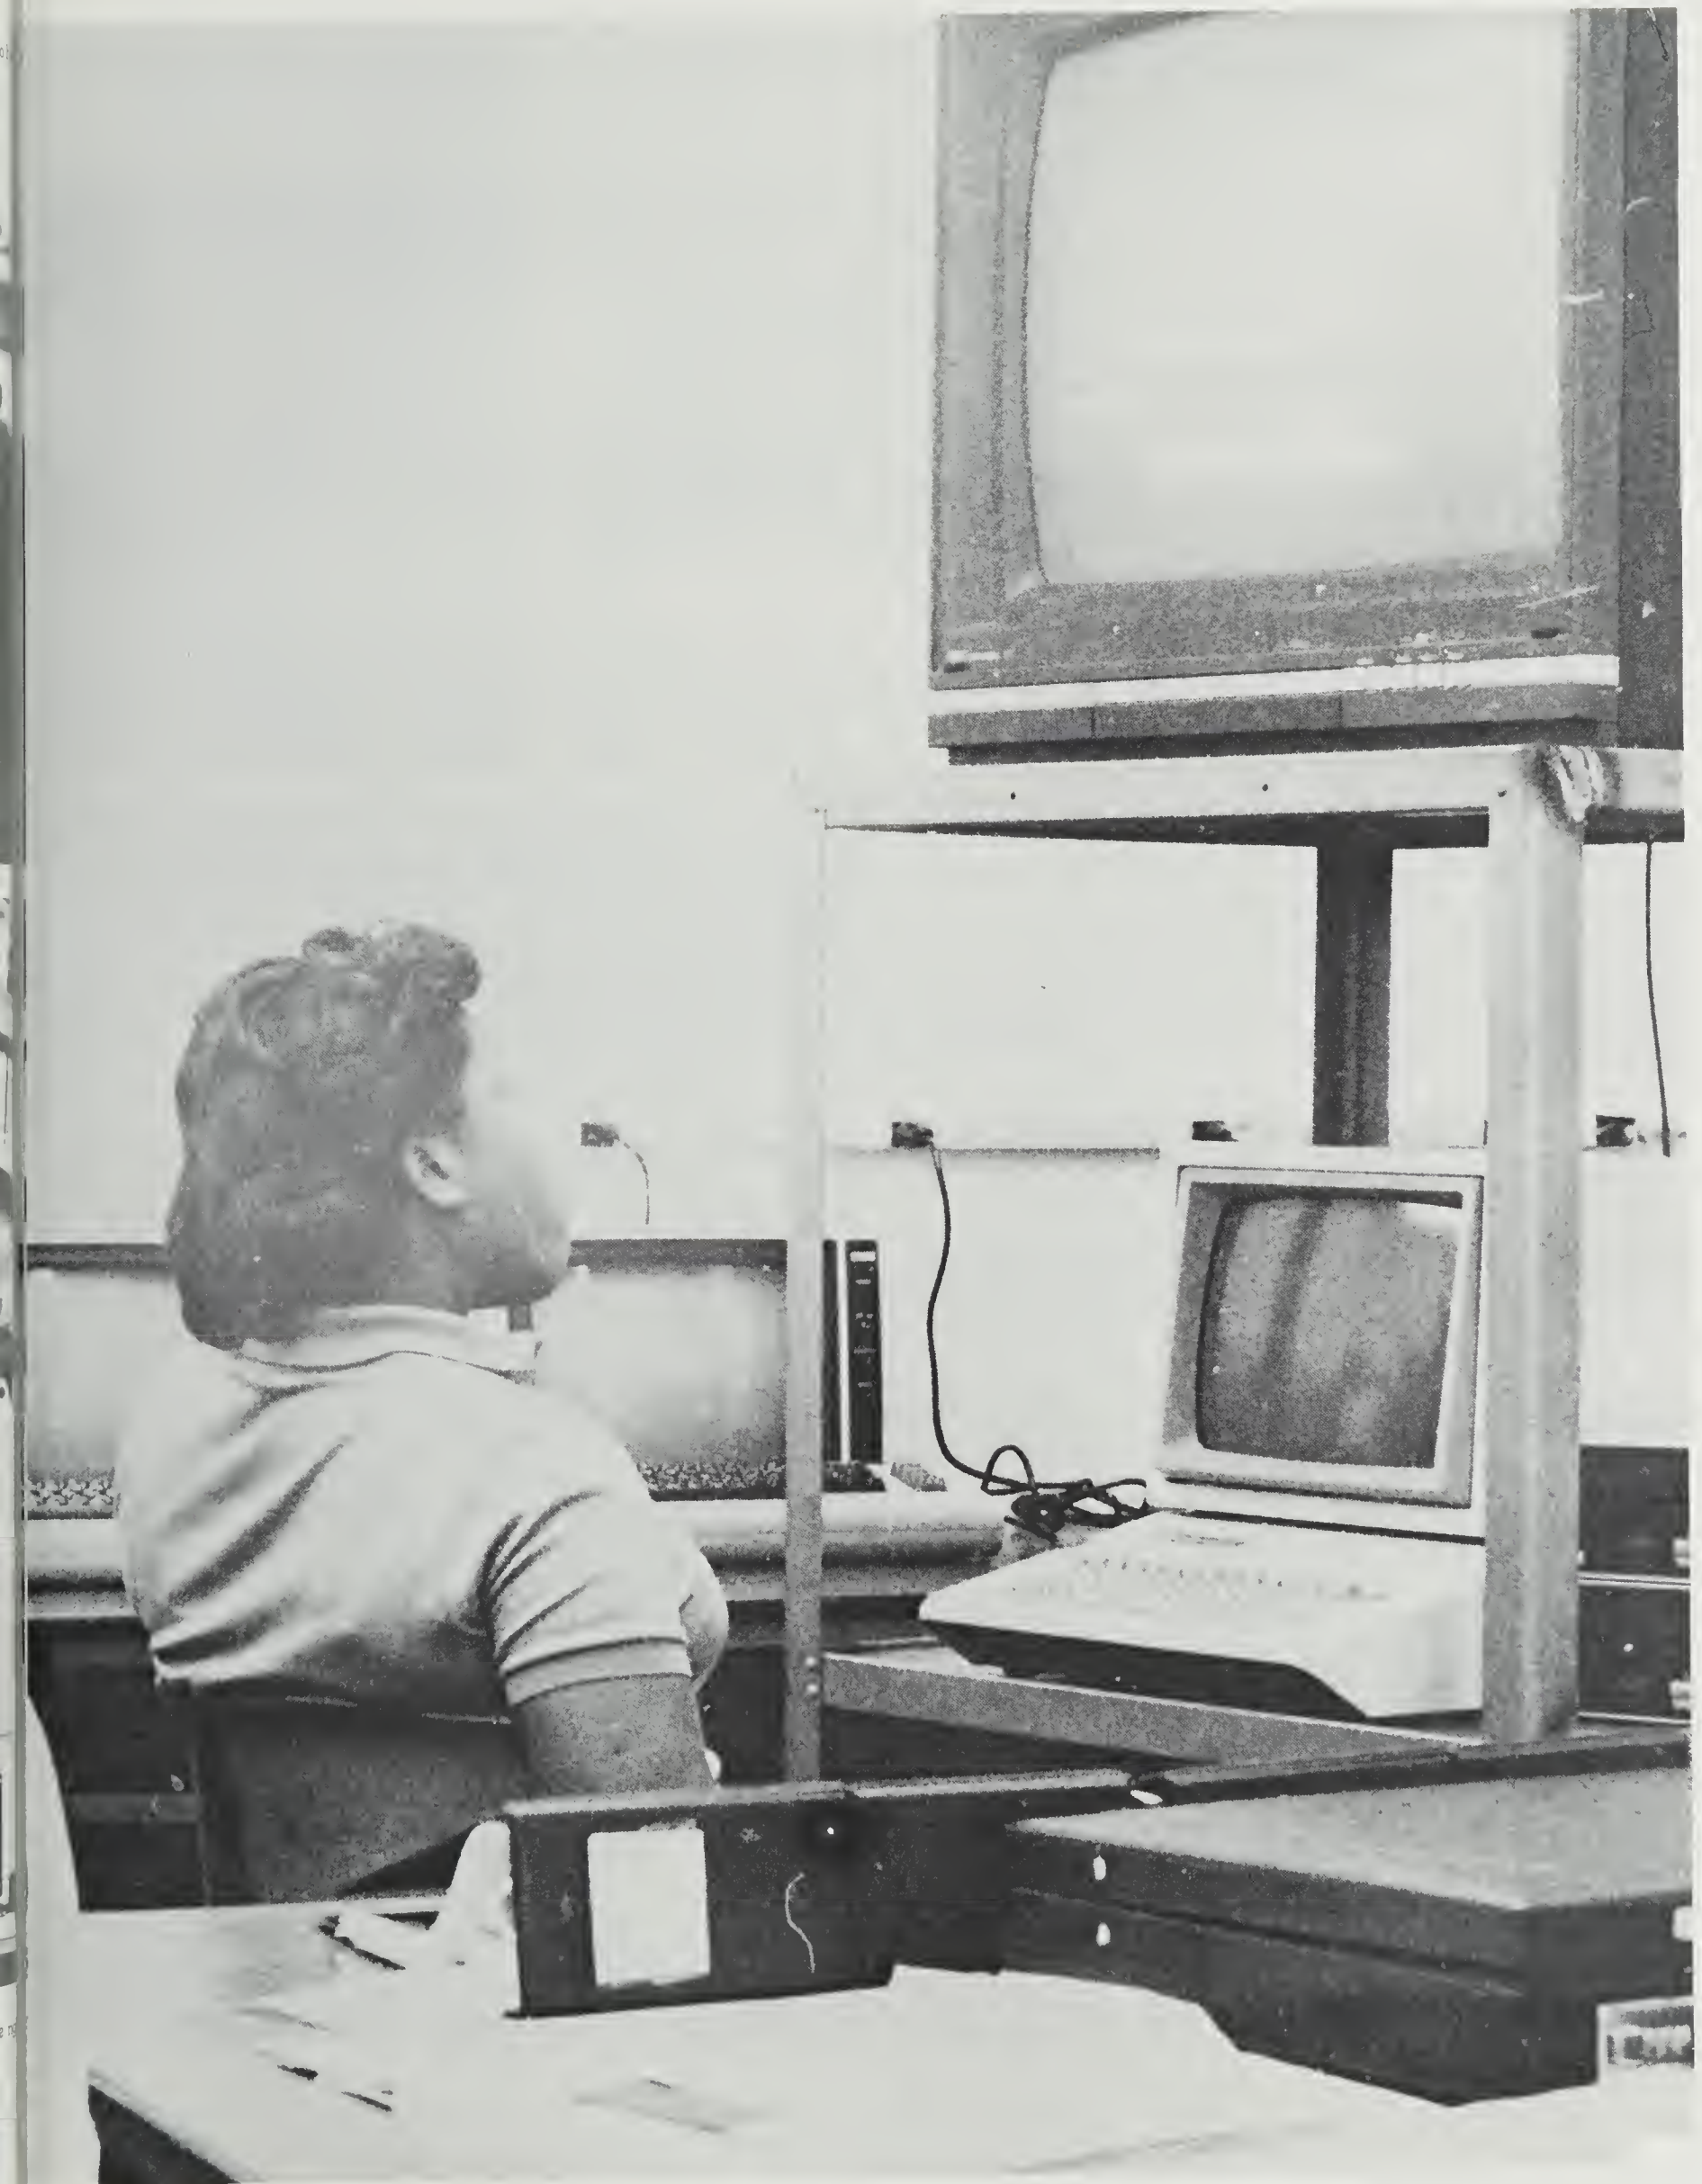

Sandra Jackson stares the TV monitor down looking for the correct answer.

Rick Henry, Doug Lipton, Wally Edwards, Robbie Edwards, Vanessa Roberts and Wil Walker view the computerized quiz program and concentrate hard on making the right decision.

When It Reigns, It Pours!

The Bulldogs have continued to sport their prowess not only in athletics but in the vocations, fine arts, and academics as well.

The Vocational Awards Assembly kicked off the first of four awards programs, honoring students who participated in and/or excelled in the vocations. Participants of the home economics, business, and trade courses were acknowledged.

For the second year in a row, honor students were awarded during the Academic Awards Banquet. After an eloquent speech, delivered by Mr. Reggie Smith, members of the A Team, the top ten, and all honor students were recognized. Mr. Smith remarked that Brunswick Sr. High was one of the few schools with a special program dedicated to the academics. The main events were the naming of the co-salutatorians, Tressaline Coleman and Laurence Hawkins, and the naming of the valedictorian, Tammy Brown. Also a main event was the Honor Society Induction Ceremony.

It is often thought that the only way to letter in high school was through sports. This theory was disproved during the Fine Arts Awards Assembly as letters were awarded for participation in Drama, Chorus, Band, Colorguard, and Art.

The Athletic Awards Banquet was the last of such programs. Special guests ranged from football players to cheerleaders. The guest speaker was Willie Lanier, former football pro for the Kansas City Chiefs.

As Milton Harrison accepts his Drama award from Mr. Burke, Michele Myers, Sylvia Alexander, Timmi Toler, Kevin Whitby, Carol Seward, C. C. Weddington, and Troy Tucker chat nervously about who will receive the next award.

"Those VICA basketball trophies would look great in my living room," think Elvis McFarland, James Meredith, Alvin Edmonds, Kendall Watkins, Alvin Davis, Robert Walker, Henry Pritchett, Joe Meredith, Derek Mason, Sam Beasley, and Tony Brown.

Waiting and wondering who will be named Band/Chorus member of the year, Sheila Hawkins, Darrel Jones, Wally Edwards, Danny Dilworth, and Janine Hicks try not to be anxious or nervous.

Pride in agricultural achievement covers Nicky Evans' face as he receives his certificate from Mr. Dennis Jones. Randy Jones, Tony Callis, Jerome Rawlings, Richard Rhodes, Mark Lucy, Alphonzo Morgan, Herman Morgan, Darrell Walker, Denise Jackson, Michelle Trotter, Martha Stith and Timothy Phillips share that pride.

Doc Washington congratulates Joe Meredith, Derek Mason, Samuel Beasley, Tony Brown, John Wyatt, and Daniel Rhodes on their smooth "concrete" moves in the VICA basketball game.

It's business as usual as Mrs. Thompson distributes her certificates among Dennis Hawkins, Michael Martin, Robbie Edwards, Lisa Moore, McCarthy Macklin, Chauncey Blackwell, Lisa Owens, Shep Moss, Sylvia Alexander, Regina Green, Tracy Manson and Bianca Graves.

Mr. Danny Downs kids around with Oliver Washington, Anthony Stith, Darrell Seward, John Jones, Tony Ruffin, James Baskerville, Santee Jarrell, and Willie Blackwell while passing out certificates and key-rings.

Ms. Newcomb's second bell Oral Communications class learns that behind the scene is a little easier than being in front of the lights: James Ingram, Troy Tucker, Phyllis Jones and Sylvia Alexander.

Friend's Reign Bulldogs Stick Together

Friends, Friends, Friends! Friendship never ends when you're a Bulldog; it just has its quiet points.

We could be found by the main office or Mr. Burke's office, in the gym, library or at our lockers. We would be in pairs or groups of boys and girls, blacks and whites, but most of all, we would be together.

Of course, these friendships weren't always "happy-go lucky." We as Bulldogs had "spats," but being who we were and where we were, friends, always made us see that the issue wasn't worth the pain we were giving it.

Bulldogs stick together and our friendship will always reign. Some of our friends were graduating and when the final days came, the love and joy of knowing them filled our hearts with sadness and our eyes with tears.

As for the rest of us who would return to BSHS the next year, the sadness of not seeing some of our friends during the summer only made us wish that the beginning of school was tomorrow.

The mock wedding from Mrs. Powell's Marriage and Child class always brings out the best in friends as Sharon Palmer and Alvin Davis partake of a wedding cake.

The well-worn bus platform prepares to bid farewell to students on Monday, June 10, at 3:05 pm: (l to r) Pete Beasley, Kendall Bruce, Chris Morgan, Mike Warrington, Tresseline Coleman, Gail Jackson, Myra Edmonds, Todd Childrey, Dawn Seward, Cynthia Lee, Angela Harrison and Patricia Harrell.

The bonds of class friendships are only known to those in that class. Seen here in Mr. Danny Downs' last "Auto II" class: (l to r) Anthony Stith, Darrell Seward, John Jones, Tony Ruffin, James Baskerville, Rodney Baskerville and Santee Jarrell.

A Pepsi and a place to stand are all any group of friends really need to have a good time: (l to r) Lonnie Jones, Andy Morris and Charles Pegram.

Many lasting friendships evolved in homerooms. In Mrs. Barbara Evans' home-room, each student checks out invitations that would go to even more friends: (l to r) Darlene Bennett, Laurie Brockwell, Kathleen Clary, Albragie Carroll, Mrs. Barbara Evans, Carl Bright, Alice Bright, Angela Carter, Pam Claiborne, Rodney Bracey, Barbara Bishop, Tammy Brown and Cassandra Bugg.

Getting ready for the last moment, Brett Roberts, Louis Moon and Mike Clark talk about what they will do now that school is out.

SENIORSREIGNSENIORSREIGNSEN SE

Blue Reign would always pour from our Seniors but on Thursday, Jan. 17 snow drizzled them to a halt. We waited patiently for our buses to arrive, but after being a Bulldog for three years we had learned that we could make a bad situation seem good.

It all started when several Seniors had the idea to cool down some of their raging peers, and thats all it took for the Seniors to take to the snow and ice to make it the snowball fight of the century.

Although the underclassmen complained that we were acting childish, we ignored them like we usually did, and continued to have the snowball fight that would Reign in the Remember Whens ...?

FORWARD FORWARD FORWARD

Future Holds What for Seniors?

Mr. Burke sells Rick Henry a ticket while Mrs. Graves and Andy Walker wait their turn.

As the school year gradually fizzled out to graduation, seniors started to wonder, "Where do we go from here?" There were lots of opportunities out there waiting for us to grab.

Most of us knew what we wanted from life and we strove to achieve our goals. Some graduates opted for a life in the Armed Forces. A few of us decided to further our education and entered college. Many of us started working full-time at a job that would help us to achieve our goals.

Many decided to travel before finally settling down to an organized and routine life.

But whatever lay ahead of us, whether we got married, got jobs or went to college, we knew we would keep moving forward until we reached the top!!!

Thinking of the future was on every senior's mind. Here Jerome Rawlings is filling out forms for the Marines.

Graduates Start Life Success Success Success

Success, Success, Success! What is success? When four Seniors were asked this question they all gave different "homemade" definitions.

Martha Stith, 1984-85 SCA Pres., said, "Success is having a life-time goal, accomplishing it and being happy afterwards. Knowing the rough roads you've conquered were worth every bit of effort." Goals surely have something to do with Success but Lori Mayton states, "Success is having a good career and fulfilling your dreams." Although Doug Lipton agreed with Lori he added, "Success is doing what you want in life and being satisfied."

Stephn "The Woof" Woofter replies, "Success is Love, Peace and Happiness." Well everyone was right for Success is what you make it and at Blue Kingdom, Success would always Reign.

VOTE!

Seniors

Work Polls

On election day, November 6, all Seniors participating in the Election project took to the polls!

The election project was one of the many requirements needed to pass the Government course.

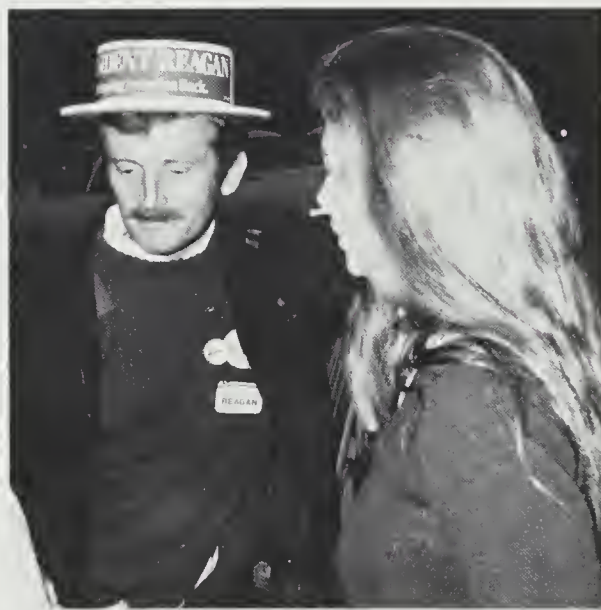

Seniors had to write essays, draw posters, fill out fact sheets, participate in political party meetings, define terms, answer questions, prepare a scrapbook and last but not least, campaign six hours at the polls.

During those long dreary six hours, Seniors patiently passed out pamphlets and greeted people with a welcoming smile. The weather was so cold that Zelma Harrison jogged around in circles, trying to keep warm.

Things got so boring that Dawn Green and Michael Martin tried to guess Democrats and Republicans by the vehicles they drove. Whether it was writing summarizations or even passing out pamphlets, Seniors learned more about elections while working on this project and working at the polls, than by reading the paper or watching the news.

"Nothing beats word of mouth," is Mandel Johnson's motto as she reads aloud the information on one of the many pamphlets.

Following the trail of the elephant, Demaris Braswell discuss the advantage of voting Republican with a fellow party member.

Not even the wind could stop Melinda Hardy as she bundles up and passes out anti-Reagan pamphlets.

Braving the cold of November's night Evangeline Thompson, Kim Cooper, Virginia Walker, Rodney Johnson, Melinda Hardy, Tyunga Ruffin, Mandel Johnson and Carol Seward enthusiastically show their democratic support.

Chanting to victory, Virginia Walker hands out pamphlets for Mondale as Mandel Johnson and Carol Seward share an election laugh in the background.

REIGN REIGN REIGN

Pride Pours Down

Pride really poured down while the seniors sat in their seats, listening to speeches and waiting for the principal to announce the Graduating class of "85." During the wait most seniors reminisced about the first to the last day of their senior year.

It all started with the credits required for graduation and the determination how many were needed. The only two requirements for graduation from the twelfth grade were English 12 and U.S. Government. Then other events occurred during our senior year such as senior privileges (which were not received until after the first month of school), first semester exemption (only seniors were allowed to exempt) and financial aid workshops (underclassmen were not yet involved.)

But through it all we could not forget the good and bad times that were shared. When Mr. Baird said he was proud to announce us the Graduates of "85", the pride poured even more for we couldn't hold back our tears anymore.

TRIUMPH TRIUMPH TRIUMPH

85 Outclasses Past

We had finally made it on the road to triumph. The past triumphs were hard to achieve, but the year 85 would out reign them all.

The battles began to come fast. Homecoming came along. It was the best. We reigned in the scream off contest. This contest was arranged to show which class had best spirit. The sophomores and juniors did what they could but we had the best. As we moved up the road of triumph, we began to prepare for SATs. We had very hesitating thoughts, but we had the power to conquer them. With our Apple 2 and Commodore computers and our English and Math floppy disks we had the strength to make it. We came out with the highest scores. The biggest triumph to gain was graduation. It came upon us quickly. This was a very frustrating time. We began to worry about our grades. The teachers were tired of us asking questions. At the final point we jumped for joy. That great day had come. It was graduation. This was the triumph we worked so hard to achieve. We graduated with the highest honors. We have had many triumphs through the years, but the ones during our senior year really outclasses the past.

Dogs and Dogettes Show Their Stuff

Some say two heads are better than one, but Andrea Gillus says two earrings are better than one, with a "dangle" and a pearl.

Jewel Robinson adds the authoritative-business look to Blue Reign, while Michelle Trotter relaxes in casual jeans and argyle socks.

Earrings have always been considered a fashion trend for girls, but in the liberated '80's, Rodney Baskerville shows guys can do it too.

Anglea Dozier shows off her "moon belt" which became part of the fashion craze that invaded the Blue Reign.

The clothes we wore usually reflected the mood we were in. Some liked wearing leather pants and some liked the "crop" pants. We had seen everything from Mr. Hubbard's boots to Peter Pan boots; from colored hair to almost no hair; from large heavy earrings to spiked bracelets; from scrub-suits to Lady Di hats; from the preppy look to the army look.

We agreed that our dress played an important role in how others judged us, but we were just as concerned about how we thought we looked. We had tried out all the new styles to see what we liked and didn't like, and expressed ourselves in our own way.

The fashion world reigned with leather gear, shown here by Sheila Hawkins, as she portrays superstar, "Prince."

erreck Easter, Monte Stith, Rhonda Williams, and Todd rent were just a few of the students in Blue Reign that made it obvious that "name belts" were in.

Chris Morgan makes three fashion statements with his "Kango" hat, plaid coat, and handcuffed belt.

"Putting you best foot forward" was evident at Brunswick, as the students showed the versatile shoe styles, from flat sole dress-ups to buckle booted show-offs.

BANKRUPTCY BANKRUPTCY BANKRUPTCY

Seniors Pay the Price

We knew being a Senior would have its sad moments, but no one told us it would hurt so much. Several times throughout the year groans of agony and expressions of pain filled the school.

The prices of "senior stuff" always caused these pained responses. As some portraits approached a hundred dollars, palms began to sweat. Class dues deflated many wallets. Let's try not to remember how much the prom cost each of us.

And with graduation expenses on the horizon we knew we would feel the bite on our wallets again. How could the high finances of the real world worry us after this, we had already come very close to bankruptcy!

ACTIVITIESREIGNACTIVITIESREIGNA

The month of November brought different activities and occasions with it, like the hustle and bustle of Thanksgiving and of course, the joys of a few vacation days.

November became a very important date in Brunswick's history. For the very first time we had been chosen to appear on the "Battle of the Brains."

The team of Robbie Edwards, Andrea Gillus, Wally Edwards, Doug Lipton and the Alt. Rick Henry went into action. The first and only contest was against the State Champions, St. Christophers.

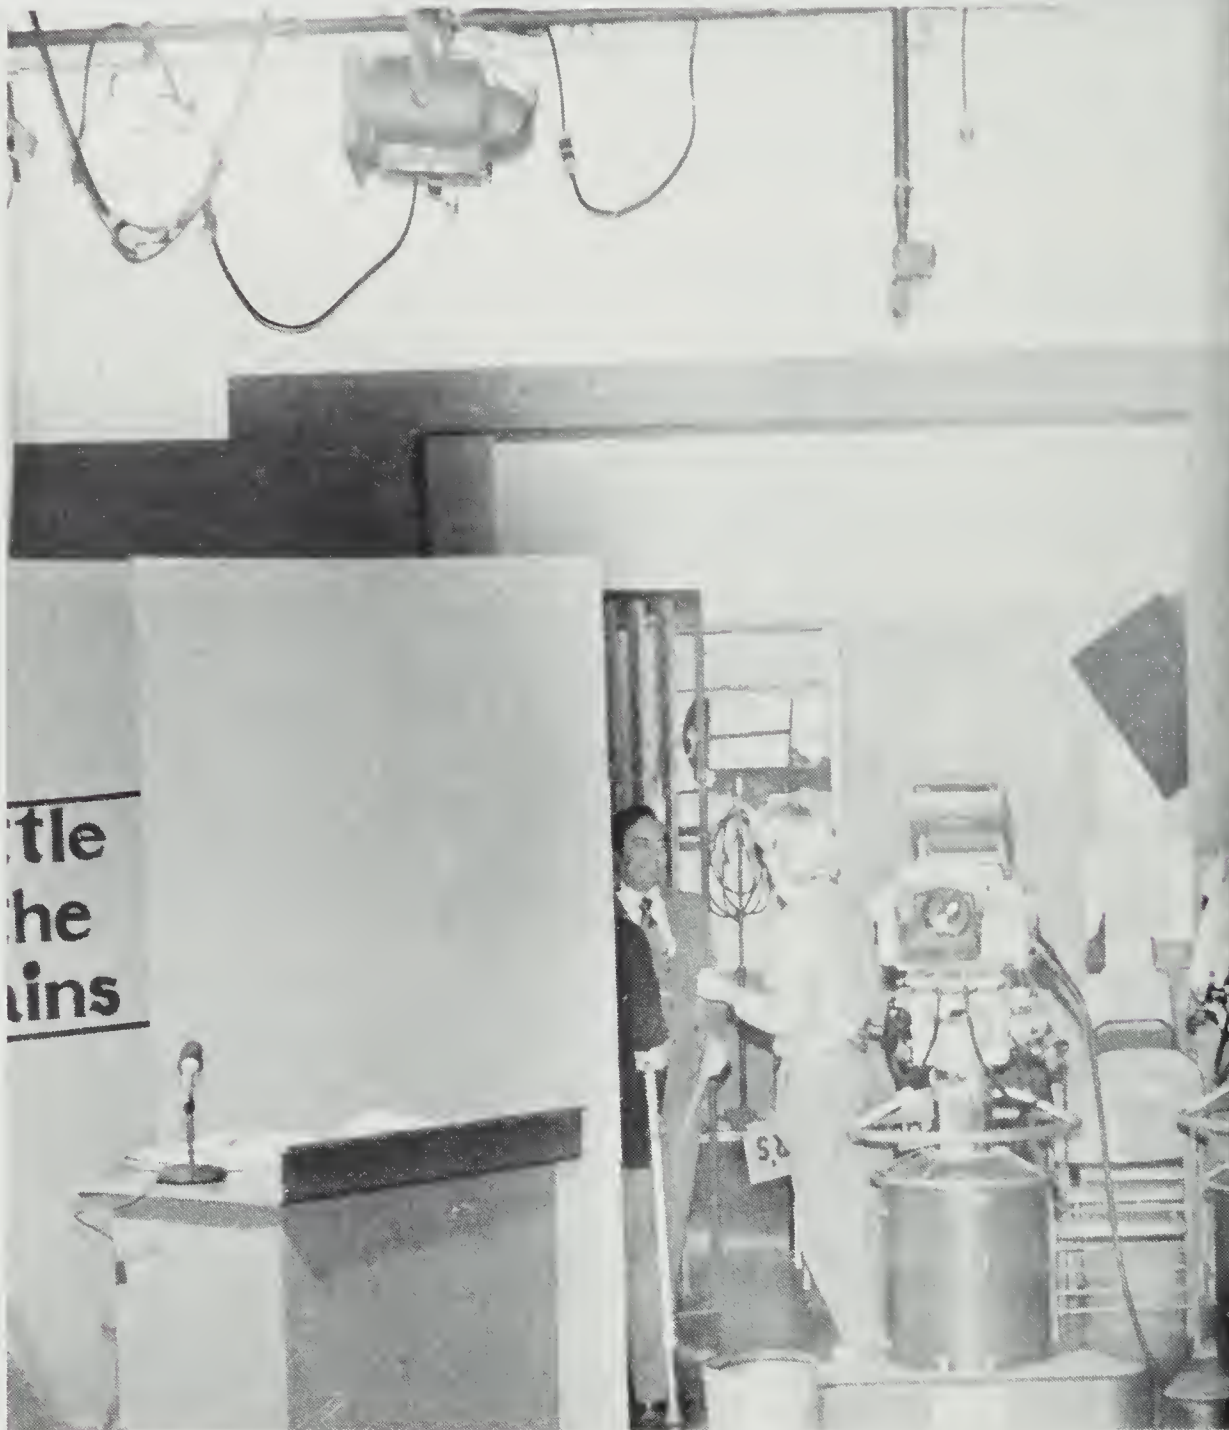

Mr. Alfred Wright and Mr. Blake Hubbard along with a great deal of help from Mr. Dale Baird, Ms. Cathy Cheely and Mrs. Julia Jones coached the team.

Though the victory of winning wasn't ours, the victory of achievement was. We held our own against the competition, and showed our pride of "Blue Reign."

Let's Not Forget One Moment

The biggest entertainment event of the year was the prom. However, there was one side of prom that few saw, preparation.

This week long activity involved the work of Seniors and Juniors as they did their utmost to produce a beautiful atmosphere with shining scenery. Under the supervision of Mrs. Leemon and Mr. Mims students were able to turn a dull blue and white gym into a delightful black and silver New York Broadway scene.

After a weeks' work and in only a couple of hours Saturday night, the prom spell was broken by souvenir hunters. Each made sure he or she left with a souvenir of some sort.

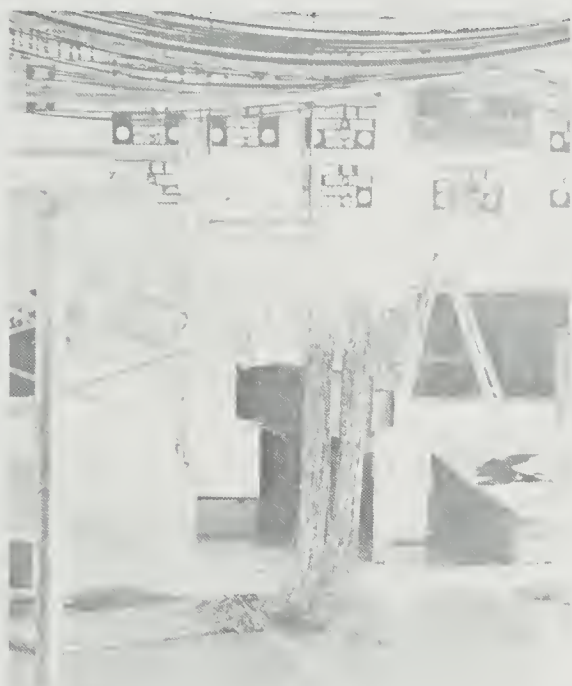

On Monday the students were back to their usual wear and the gym looked like it usually did except for some larger items that were left untouched, like the buildings and entrance.

The middle of the week long activity caught Jimmy Spillane helping to put up the scaffolding to hang the New York City skyline.

On Monday Mike Clark begin the work by putting up the wire that will hold the streamers.

Tuesday the gym began to change into a different look, by the addition of trees, black and silver streamers, and walls.

Almost at the end, Thursday's gym was caught up with much left to be done.

Friday, Ryan Henry, Kim Radford, Rhonda Williams, Mrs. Leemon, Timmi Toler, Renee Riegel, Theresa Powell, Jason Stith and Jackie Tillar finished New York's centerpiece.

Bulldogs Reign Dance Painting The Town

One week was all it took to prepare for the prom. Juniors and Seniors worked very hard to turn the plain blue and white gym into a beautiful black and gray scene that put a shock into everyone's system.

Students worked hard putting up streamers, wires, buildings and top hats to make the theme "Make this a Night to Remember!" This was accomplished by students working long into the night.

The week of the prom, the students looked forward to looking good and going out to paint the town. There were strapless evening gowns, lots of lace, and many extravagant gowns. There were many guys in tuxedos and we were sure to snap a picture because we would never see them that way again. The scenery was picture-perfect as we stood in line to take our pictures.

Kurt Engel determines how to secure the skyline.

Kim Radford skillfully installs windows in the "big apple."

Mr. Dale Mims, LaTanya Barner, and Doretha Coleman glue together the NY City skyline.

Vivian Jones begins hanging "music on broadway."

In a sticky situation, Regina Green, Angela Adams and Ellen Babb glue windows on New York city buildings.

Although everyone complained about gluing on the windows, Jackie Tillar kept her cool and stayed out of a sticky predicament.

Thursday, after normal school hours, Ryan Henry installs more windows in the New York city skyline.

Steppin' Out! Dawn Green and William Watson go to it the "Roxanne Dance."

Prom Captures New York City Entertainment Tonight

Everything was kept a secret this year. Only the Junior Class officers knew the colors. This did cause some problems because everyone wanted to know what the colors were so we could make sure our apparel wouldn't clash.

As Saturday night approached, everyone prepared for the big night. The guys picked up their colored tuxedos with tails, and the young ladies picked up their strapless evening gowns. Some students had problems deciding what flowers to order and where to dine afterwards. As the hour rolled around, everything and everybody looked great. The decorations were like New York City at midnight. The young ladies looked absolutely stunning in their evening gowns, and the young men looked like they had just walked out of the latest issue of "GQ" magazine.

With the evening drawing to an end, everyone found a precious memory to hold. Everyone took a top hat or a feather vase to remind them of that special night. To everyone who attended this gala event, it was certainly a "Night to Remember."

Specializing in "Romantic Jamm," disc jockey "Capt'n Sam" prepares a night to remember.

Collecting memories among other things, Maureen Moseley grabs a quick dance with Norman Goodrich.

Good thoughts seem to drift through the air, as Steve Capps and Lori Brockwell and Janice Johnson and Buddy Hyde share this special moment together.

After a long night of dancing, (l to r) Chris Adcock and Jennifer Williams, Karen Lewis and Charles Pegram, F. M. Author and Amy Green, Mark Roberts and Martha Thompson, Jimmy Wilhite and Tammy Wilmouth, Lonnie Jones and Kim Caswell, Jimmy Spillane, and Beth Jones decide to cool off and take a breather.

Any wait is too long, especially a two hour wait to get pictures taken as (l to r) Tyunga Ruffin, Valeda Cleaton, Jocelyn Taylor, Karen McMillian, Reggie Thomas, Martha Washington, Kendall Watkins, Jerry Starke, Kelly Peterson, and Michele Myers talk about the situation.

After twelve long years of waiting, the moment has finally arrived. (l to r) Rodney Johnson, Donnie Hammack, Shelia Hawkins, Richard Harper, Santee Jarrell, Angela Harrison, Zelma Harrison, Melinda Hardy, Laurence Hawkins, Rick Henry begin to see the light at the end of a long tunnel.

Concentration is the key for Timmy Hayes, as he thinks about the walk head for his diploma. Alicia Hill and Martessia Hill wonder how they'll keep their hats on for graduation.

Between the real heat and the self-induced tension of graduates, Cassandra Bugg, Michelle Mallory and Felecia Weaver Clark step outside for a breath of fresh air.

Royal Invitations Required

Money was the key to being a senior. A small fortune was needed to pay for such things as caps and gowns, yearbooks, senior portraits, cap and gown pictures and graduation invitations. These necessities broke many bank accounts.

Even after all that money, some things did not turn out quite right. Because of one Bulldog's name, "he" was sent a white cap and gown. When it finally arrived, he had no cap or tassel.

Graduation practice had always been fun.

One young lady commented that, "It was tremendously too hot to be practicing."

Seniors worried during their last few moments of getting ready for the big event. Would the wind blow off hats? Were tassels on the right side (left)? Would it rain? Would someone trip?

The worst things that could happen were going through all minds. "Will I be cool, or will I be a fool?" Until, on Friday night at 7:45 the famous "last teacher's announcement" was heard: "Get in Line!!"

"What side do these tassels go on, anyway?" Herman Morgan adjusts John Jones' cap in Mr. Al Wright's homeroom during each's last few moments as students.

At 8:15 on Friday, June 14, the Class of '85 takes its place on the field and prepares to listen, worry and cheer through the night.

An hour before graduation finds Clay McClenney and soon to be graduate Robbie Edwards with Carlton Crenshaw on the bus loading platform checking out arrivals as a steady stream of cars pour into the parking lot.

The last few moments of the 1985 lineup find Regina Green ready to lead out Seniors Deeya Atkins, Virginia Walker, Gracie Reid and Sharon Thomas as Gracie Reid's mother begins to feel the tension and pride of graduation exercise.

Ceremony Begins

Graduation night for the only "Class of '85" to ever be conducted at BSHS arrived on Friday the 14th. The weather was perfect and the stands were packed as we began the two hour ceremony that would end with us gaining a new title — GRADUATES!

A beefed up sound system helped make the band's "Pomp and Circumstance" much more distinct than previously and the numerous voices of the choir sounded fuller than years gone by.

Rev. David Baird's Invocation told us the night was underway. Our minds were racing as Co-Salutatorian Tresseline Coleman's "A Definitive View of Success" began the count-down. Next, Co-Salutatorian Laurence Hawkins' "The Roads We Traveled" reminded us that only one student speaker was left. "The End or Just the Beginning," the speech of Valedictorian Tammy Brown, ended with a round of applause.

Co-Salutatorian Tresseline Coleman's "A Definitive View of Success" helps all of us put our feelings into words.

Co-Salutatorian Laurence Hawkins' "The Roads We Traveled" brings back many memories from the past twelve years.

Valedictorian Tammy Brown's "The End or Just the Beginning" makes the "Class of '85" think about tomorrow.

Rev. David Baird, Guest Speaker, brought down the house on several occasions with his candid use of advertising slogans. His "5 C's" in the conclusion returned us to the reality that we were about to face.

Then, it began. Before we realized what was happening, Mr. Dale Baird, Principal, was calling names and Mr. J. Grady Martin, Superintendent, was handing out diplomas. The tension finally broke as we cheered on several friends.

It's over! Mr. Martin's final announcement sent caps and "diplomas" soaring. Handshakes, pats, hugs and tears all blended into one sea of emotion. And then the Recessional back to our homeroom for the real diploma and then off to . . . to . . . Start!!!

The symbolism of students pouring from school into life become obvious as Kathleen Clary, Pam Mason, Pearl Peebles, Karla Brodnax, Jessie Stith, Uthante Callis, James Baskerville, Albragie Carroll, and Larry Wyche, head to the football field with a teacher, Mr. Joe Graves, opening the way.

Anthony Jarrell receives his "diploma" from Superintendent J. Grady Martin as Principal Dale Baird prepares to announce Rodney Johnson, Timothy Phillips and Michael Martin.

Guest Speaker David Baird's "never had it, never will" comment during address to the Seniors made sure no one slept through the speeches.

The tension of the evening and twelve years of school explode as caps and "diplomas" go into the air on the announcement that all these people are now former students.

Shaking hands and talking at the same time doesn't seem to be a problem for Rep. Paul Tribble as Rodney Bracey, Maureen Moseley, Tresseline Coleman, Cassandra Bugg, Cynthia Lee, Lisa Owens, and Greta Fields listen to what he has to say.

Listening closely to the welcome presented by Rep. Norman Sisisky, Maureen Moseley, Cassandra Bugg, Cynthia Lee, Mandel Johnson, Virginia Walker, Martha Stith, Robert Sandord, Lisa Owens, Doris Powell, Alisia Hill, show the respect due a governmental leader.

r. Al Wright and Mrs. Julia Jones discuss the effectiveness of letting students "trip" during the school day with a congressional aide, Representative Paul Trible, and Senator John Warner.

Sr. Gov't. Classes Trip!

Each year, the government classes take an educational trip to some type of government seat. This year, they visited Washington, D.C.

They went to the Supreme Court Building and listened to a few very interesting lectures from important people.

Next was the Capitol where everyone got to meet Rep. Norman Sisisky, Senator John Warner, Rep. Paul Trible and many other congressmen. From these people, they learned things about the government and how it is run, things that they couldn't learn in class.

While visiting Washington, a final stop was made to the Smithsonian where everyone seemed fascinated by the many displays and works by very famous people. Most students hit the space building.

The "almost never" seen sight of people relaxing in Washington: Mrs. Julia Jones, Mr. Al Wright, Mr. Jones, Robert Sanford, Lolita Drummond, Greta Fields, Lisa Owens, Doris Powell, Alisia Hill, Martiessa Hill and Tresseline Coleman.

Touring can tire a person out, so Mandel Johnson "leans" on the wall in the Supreme Court Building as the tour guide explains the maps and drawings on the wall.

Everyone was a little tired as each headed back home to his regular quiet routine of going to school.

3:05 after the last exam on the last day of school: what can you say, except, "see ya' next year!"

ADVERTISEMENTSREIGNADVERTISEMENT

Not only did we have support inside Blue Reign, but we also had assistance from neighbors and friends.

From one inch to thirty inches, our supporters bought ads of different sizes. From $7 to $160, we managed to sell ads to the local stores and collect early.

During September students had to hustle ads, learning the most practical side of Journalism. By December, ad sales soared to $1,700, well over the last year's total.

We appreciated their support and help in the publishing of the 1984-85 yearbook, "Blue Reign"!

BULLDOGSBULLDOGSBULLDOGSBUL

The year 1985 reigned with achievements of spirited students as their pride in being a Bulldog kept them on top in every event entered. The reign began to pour as the first bus load of students entered the school. Tears poured also as students reunited with their old friends.

The mighty, brave Bulldogs reigned as they captured District titles in such events as Drama, Football, Girl's Basketball, Golf, Forensics, Boy's Basketball, J.V. Basketball, Debate and Boy's track.

The brainy Bulldogs reigned in Academics too. For this year marked the first time the Bulldogs had a Battle of the Brains team. They displayed good techniques against St. Christopher, former State Champions. The Forensics team captured the District Cup for the fourth time in a row and also had five members to participate in Regionals and two in State.

On the agricultural end of the trophy case sits the District Swine Judging trophy which was clinched by the "top-hogs" of Brunswick, a team of four boys and four girls.

This year's record, like the previous years, demonstrated that no matter how hard other teams tried Bulldogs would always Reign.
